Foreign Languages & Literatures – Assistant Professor of Spanish
The Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures at Lincoln University of Pennsylvania invites applications for a tenure-track position in Spanish at the rank of Assistant professor scheduled to begin August 15, 2013.

This job should be filled by a full-time tenure-track faculty member at the level of Assistant Professor. The candidate must have a Ph.D. The professor will report directly to the Chair of the Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures.

The candidate must be dedicated to foreign language instruction and have a specialization in Latin American culture and literature. Preferred qualifications include a demonstrated knowledge in peninsular culture and literature.

Qualifications:
- Ph.D. in Spanish, a generalist with primary scholarly specialization in Latin American literatures and cultures, by the start date of the position.
- Native or near-native fluency in Spanish.
- Academic command of English.
- Ability to teach all levels of Spanish courses.
- Proficiency in the use of multimedia technology in foreign language teaching.
- Solid scholarly agenda.
- Documented College/University teaching experience.
- Experience with foreign language assessment (ACTFL, etc.)

Duties shall include, but not be limited to:
- Teach a full course load, including elementary and intermediate courses as needed.
- Establish and maintain a scholarly agenda.
- Participate in department and University committees.
- Participate in assessment of student learning.
- Collaborate in the organization and supervision of extracurricular activities.
- Collaborate in the supervision of Spanish Foreign Language Teaching Assistants.
- Encourage and investigate study abroad and other opportunities for students.
- Assist in the selection of instructional materials (textbooks, media, etc.).
- Promote effective use of technology as an integral part of foreign language pedagogy.
Application Deadline:
Until filled. However, to guarantee consideration, application must be received by February 15, 2013. The successful candidate must be authorized to work in the United States by August 15, 2013, the start date of the position.

Application Instructions:
Send letter of interest, curriculum vita, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three recent letters of recommendation to: Human Resources, Attention: Department of Foreign Languages & Literatures Search Committee, Lincoln University, 1570 Baltimore Pike, PO Box 179, Lincoln University, PA 19352. E-mail submissions are preferred: hr@lincoln.edu.

Working Conditions:
Work is primarily performed in a university campus environment and requires a flexible schedule. The employee is subject to inside environmental conditions and protection from weather conditions.