Philosophy & Religion – Adjunct Professor

The Instructor in Philosophy serves as a key member of the faculty in the Department of Philosophy and Religion and is expected to serve undergraduate students by performing the following duties:

Qualifications:
- Master’s required, Ph.D. preferred.
- A minimum of two years teaching in a higher education setting and demonstrated record of teaching excellence.
- Must be able to work with little or no supervision.
- Must have evidence of professional and scholarly promise.
- Must have excellent communication skills – oral and written.
- Must have excellent interpersonal skills and the ability to work within a culturally diverse environment.

Essential Duties and Responsibilities:
- Responsible for instruction in assigned courses.
- Compiles, administers, and grades examinations, and grades essays and research papers.
- Submits grades in a timely way.
- Contributes to and supports the Department’s mission and goals.
- Other relevant duties as assigned.

Working Conditions:
Work is primarily performed in a university campus environment and requires a flexible schedule which may include evening and weekend work.