General Information.

Every applicant for admission must present evidence of good moral character ; and if from any other Institution, a certificate of honorable dismissal from the proper authorities.

All students in the University are required to attend daily prayers, religious services on the Lord's day, and such exercises of instruction and recitation as may be assigned to them.

Students regularly advanced with their classes in the courses of study are required to return promptly to the University at the opening of the session.

The expenses of a student in Lincoln University need not exceed $150 a year. An exact estimate of the personal expenses of a student, above what is included in the session bills, cannot be made.

Many benevolent friends of education are co-operating with the Trustees and Faculty in providing aid for those who need it. Careful discrimination is exercised in directing this aid to individuals, so as not to weaken the sense of personal responsibility and self-reliance. Those who can pay their own bills have only to comply with the regulations for admission, and they will be admitted to the standing in the classes for which their previous training has fitted them ; but no earnest young man of good abilities and good moral character should be discouraged from seeking the advantages which are here offered. All who need aid should apply for admission to the President, or to some member of the Faculty, and state in their application their purpose in seeking an education, what progress they have made in study, and what part of the expenses they can meet.

The students board in clubs, or in boarding houses adjacent to the University. The cost of board cannot be fixed at an unvarying rate from year to year. During the current year board and washing have been furnished for $9.00 per month.

Devotional exercises, consisting of reading the Scriptures, singing and prayer, are held with the students in the chapel every day.

A voluntary prayer meeting is held by the students every evening except Friday.

The library contains about 6,000 volumes, and is open daily except Sundays.

A reading room adjoining the library is supplied with a number of daily and weekly papers, and monthly and quarterly reviews.

Since the last catalogue was published the library has received valuable additions from the Rev. Thomas McCauley and from the Rev. M. B. Grier, D. D.

The reading room owes its efficiency to generous donations from George S. Billmyer, Esq., of York, Pa.

REGULATIONS.

The course of study in the Collegiate Department occupies four years.

Applicants for the Freshman Class must be at least fifteen years of age. They will be examined in Spelling, English Grammar, Composition of simple sentences, Geography, History of the United States.

Arithmetic.

Latin Grammar, to Syntax.

Greek Grammar, to Syntax.

Candidates for advanced standing will be examined in the studies previously pursued by the class which they propose to enter.

The Academical year is divided into two sessions. At the end of each session public examinations of all the classes are held. Absence from an examination, except for reasons of absolute necessity and sustained by vote of the Faculty, will be regarded as a serious delinquency, and cannot be made good by any subsequent examination. No student can be continued in full standing in his class who does not pass all these examinations. Students are required to return promptly at the beginning of each session.

At the close of each year all the Classes are examined, either orally or in writing, in the studies of that year.

The final examination of the Sophomore class includes the studies of the Freshman year as well as those of the current year. Members of the Sophomore class found deficient in general scholarship at this examination will not be advanced to the Junior Class in full standing, and will not be entitled to the degree of A. B. at the close of the course.

The rank of a student in his class depends on his grade in his recitations and examinations ; on his punctuality and constancy in attendance upon all exercises of instruction ; and on his deportment in all his relations as a student.

At the close of the Senior year the members of the Senior Class are examined in the studies of the whole course.

In determining the final rank of a senior his grade in the final senior examination is combined with the final grades of the previous collegiate years.

COMMENCEMENT.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the first Tuesday in June.

The Baccalaureate Sermon is addressed to the graduating class on the Sabbath preceding Commencement.

On Commencement day the members of the Senior Class, to whom orations are assigned, speak in the order of their rank, except that the valedictorian, who is chosen from the highest third of the class, arranged according to the rank of the members, delivers the closing address.

Special honorary orations are assigned, at the discretion of the Faculty, to members of the Senior class who may have excelled in particular branches of study.

Students who complete the whole course of collegiate study satisfactorily to the Faculty and Board of Trustees, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The Master's oration is delivered before the assembly on Commencement day.

Graduates desiring the degree of Master of Arts should make application to the President and furnish satisfactory evidence that they have been engaged in literary or professional pursuits for at least three years subsequent to graduation.

All degrees authorized by the Board of Trustees are announced by the Secretary of the Board, and conferred by the President of the University, during the progress of the Commencement exercises.

The collegiate year closes with the exercises on Commencement day, and is followed by the summer vacation.

REGULATIONS.

The Preparatory Department is designed to prepare the students to enter upon the studies of the Freshman year. They are advanced as fast as their success in study will permit. The study of Latin and Greek is commenced in the last year of the Preparatory course. Proficiency in the studies of this department will fit the student to teach in the common schools of Pennsylvania.

It is urgently recommended that all persons desiring to enter the Preparatory Department should be previously trained in the common branches of an English education, so that they may complete their preparation for the Freshman Class in one year. In order to do this the applicant should be able to read and write well, and be familiar with the elementary processes of arithmetic, including fractions. Students in this department participate in the general advantages of the students in the Collegiate Department, and are under the government and protection of the Faculty of Arts.

Application for admission may be made to the President of the University, to the Principal of the Department, or to any of the Professors in the Collegiate Department.

REGULATIONS.

The course of study in the Theological Department occupies three years.

Applicants for admission to the privileges of the Theological Department must present evidences of membership in good standing in some Evangelical church.

Students who complete the full course of Theological study to the satisfaction of the Faculty and the Board of Trustees, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology.

No person not a graduate of the Collegiate Department of Lincoln University, or of some other Collegiate Institution, will be admitted to this department as a candidate for the degree of S. T. B., unless he pass a satisfactory examination. But applicants, who have not pursued a course of classical training, may, at the discretion of the Faculty, be admitted to particular classes, or to a special course of instruction. Such students, on leaving the University, will be entitled to certificates in evidence of their attendance on instruction, and of the time spent in study.

The Academical year is divided into two sessions. At the close of the second session the students are examined on the studies of the current year.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

The degree of S. T. B., in course, was conferred on Messrs. PETER J. BACON, WILLIAM H. DICKERSON, JOHN R. HARRIS, JOHN A. SAVAGE and ALEXANDER R. WILSON, graduates of the class of 1882. A certificate of attendance upon the course of study prescribed to him, was given to WILLIAM L. BETHEL, N. C.

THE ENGLISH COURSE.

In the year 1876 the Board of Trustees of Lincoln University addressed the following memorial and overture to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church :

"The Board of Trustees of Lincoln University, deeply interested in the condition of the Freedmen, and convinced that their continued destitution of an authorized educated ministry is a reproach to the Church and a source of danger to the country, respectfully urge the General Assembly to devise and adopt some practical plan to supply this want ; and overture the Assembly to consider and act upon the following propositions :

"First. Resolved, that this Assembly recognize it as the imperative duty of the Church to send the Gospel to the Freedmen without delay.

"Second. That while in the considerate judgment of this Assembly the regulations embodied in the fourteenth chapter of the Form of Government respecting the trial of candidates for licensure are an authoritative guide to Presbyteries in determining their qualifications, they do not supercede the discretion of the Presbyteries in the responsibility of committing the ministry of the word to faithful men.

"Third. That all Presbyteries providentially brought into relations with the Freedmen be hereby advised to license all colored men of whose call to preach the Gospel they may be satisfied, and whose training and abilities they may deem sufficient to qualify them for this sacred work.

"Fourth. That the Board of Education be instructed to assume in behalf of the Church the pecuniary responsibility of educating in a thorough course of Theological studies in the English language all colored candidates for the ministry recommended to their care by the Presbyteries."

To this memorial and overture the Assembly returned the following answer :

"First. The Assembly has no authority to modify the regulations of our form of government in respect to the qualifications of licentiates, so as to make provision for any class of exceptional cases. At the same time the Assembly recognizes the propriety of the exercise, by Presbyteries, of a wise discretion in their administration of the functions intrusted to them by the Church, in view of the great work to be done by our Church among the colored people in this country. The Assembly specially accords such discretion to those Presbyteries, which are Providentially brought into special relations to that work ; meanwhile, in view of the experience of several years, enjoining upon such Presbyteries the obligation to take great care lest incompetent or unworthy men be admitted into the ministry of our Church.

"Second. This General Assembly does not deem it wise to modify the existing rules governing the Board of Education in the aiding of candidates for the ministry in our Church. The Assembly, however, earnestly commends the exceptional cases referred to in the overture, to the sympathy and charity of the Churches, and trust that the friends of our work among the Freedmen will suffer no worthy young man, devoting himself to that work, to fail for lack of pecuniary aid."

Minutes of the General Assembly, 1876.

This answer of the General Assembly virtually affirms the first proposition, that it is the duty of the Church to send the Gospel to the Freedmen without delay. The Assembly specially accords to particular Presbyteries discretion in licensing, as preachers of the Gospel, candidates who have been exercised in a thorough course of Theological studies in the English language, according to the second and third propositions. And although the Assembly did not instruct the Board of Education to adopt a wider policy in supporting colored candidates for the ministry, its past policy, which has been liberal, was not restricted. The education of colored men in a thorough course of Theological studies in the English language was commended by the Assembly to the sympathies and charity of the Churches and friends of our work among the Freedmen.

It is the desire of the Faculty of Theology in Lincoln University to give greater prominence to this aspect of their work, and the co-operation of Presbyteries and contributors is earnestly invited.

ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

By the Charter of Lincoln University the Theological Department is placed under the care of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in conformity with the general plan adopted for the supervision of Theological Seminaries. The General Assembly, which met in Chicago in May, 1871, accepted the oversight of the Theological Department of Lincoln University, as provided in the Charter, and approved the appointments and proceedings of the Board of Trustees, as reported at that time. The laws of Lincoln University require that any action of the Board of Trustees affecting the Theological Department shall be reported to the General Assembly by the Secretary of the Board. The Faculty of Theology is also required to prepare for the information of the General Assembly an annual report of their work in instruction, and of all matters of interest respecting the Theological Department.

THEOLOGICAL AND MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The Theological and Missionary Society meets every Friday evening for exercises connected with Ministerial and Missionary work. The room occupied by the Society is supplied with a library of general and special commentaries, and furnished with religious and missionary periodicals.

General Statement.

Lincoln University is in Chester county, Pennsylvania, half a mile from Lincoln University Station, on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad. That part of Chester county in which the University is situated is notably free from malarial and pulmonary diseases. The institution is well removed from associations which tend to prevent high literary attainments and hinder the formation of a high moral character. The post office, where the Professors should be addressed, is

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY,

CHESTER COUNTY, PA.

The corporate title of this institution is "The Lincoln University." Bequests intended to promote the work of this University will be legally valid under that title.

The first charter of this institution was granted by the State of Pennsylvania under the title of "Ashmun Institute," in 1854. In 1866 the title was changed by amendment of the Charter to "The Lincoln University." The Theological Department was by another change of the Charter in 1871, placed under the control of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

The property of Lincoln University consists of land, buildings and endowments.

LAND.

Seventy-five acres in Lower Oxford, Pa.

BUILDINGS.

ASHMUN HALL contains dormitories for forty-eight students ; a recitation room for the Preparatory Students ; and rooms for a boarding club.

LINCOLN HALL contains dormitories for fifty-six students ; the Society Halls, and the Janitor's Apartments.

CRESSON HALL contains dormitories for seventy students, the Library and Reading Room, and the Chemical Laboratory.

UNIVERSITY HALL contains the chapel and six recitation rooms. This Hall is one wing of a building, which, when finished, will supply accommodations for the whole work of instruction.

HOUSTON HALL contains dormitories and study rooms for thirty-five students, and the room for the Theological and Missionary Society.

LIVINGSTONE HALL is for commencement assemblies, and will seat one thousand persons.

There are six spacious and comfortable residences for the Professors.

PROFESSORSHIPS.

The Mary Warder Dickey Presidency.

The Avery Professorship of Lincoln University.

The John C. Baldwin Professorship of Theology.

The William E. Dodge Professorship of Sacred Rhetoric.

The John H. Cassedy Professorship of Latin.

The Reuben J. Flick Professorship.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

The John Dunlap Scholarship.

The One Blood Scholarship.

The Nelson Scholarship.

The Clapp Scholarship, No. 1.

The Clapp Scholarship, No. 2.

The Bradley Scholarship.

The Phelps Scholarship.

The Henry A. Kerr Scholarship.

A Friend's Scholarship.

The Charles Jessup Scholarship.

The Nancy Milligan Scholarship.

The Westfield Scholarship.

The Scholarship Fund.

Since the issue of the last catalogue, a new house has been erected for one of the Professors by the liberality of David Small, Esq., of York, Pa., at a cost of $5,000 ; Ashmun Hall has been thoroughly repaired and raised one story and heated by steam at a cost of $5,000 ; and The Nancy Milligan Scholarship has been endowed in the sum of $2,000.

The rooms in Houston Hall have been comfortably furnished by the liberality and thoughtful kindness of benevolent individuals and churches.

Through the self-denying and successful labors of the Rev. Joseph Chester of Cincinnati, O., the work of the University has become more widely known in the West. The University has received from this source a large number of annual and some permanent Scholarships ; many valuable books have been added to the library ; and the wants of many students have been supplied with clothing. These generous contributors to the maintenance and enlargement of our work are hereby assured that their liberal gifts, communicated through our accredited representative, are a most welcome and helpful resource in our exigencies. We have drawn encouragement from the frequent reports of Mr. Chester concerning the earnest sympathy manifested by the churches and by Christian and patriotic friends in our work, and from the frequency and liberality of their contributions.

During the last year public meetings were held in Brooklyn, N. Y., and in Englewood, N. J. The representation of our work by our graduates in these places was received with marked interest. But though a deep impression was made respecting the capacity of the Negro to receive the highest culture, and his felicity in using his culture for the highest ends, there was very little direct pecuniary return to the institution from this effort. The sickness and subsequent death of Dr. Gregory made it necessary for the President to return to the institution to take a part in the work of instruction. Pastors of churches desiring to co-operate with us in this effort, to present to their congregations practical evidence of the ability of the Negro to take a hand in the elevation of his own race, are invited to correspond with the President of the University in reference to this matter.

Lincoln University has met with a severe loss in the removal by death, from its corps of Professors, of the REV. CASPAR R. GREGORY, D. D., Professor of Rhetoric. He fell asleep in Jesus, on Sabbath, the 26th day of February, 1882. The immediate cause of his death was aneurism of the aorta. Among his last words were, "I go not in any merits of my own, but fearlessly trusting in the grace of Christ; and I am glad to go." As a Professor, he was devoted to his work. He had a singular fitness for the Chair which he not only occupied but filled. That part of his work which he most enjoyed was the instruction of the theological students in the clear, direct presentation of the central truths of the gospel, which the sinner must believe in order to be saved, and the believer must apprehend in order to grow in grace. As much as possible, he brought himself into personal contact with individual students, and sought to stimulate them to special effort for the salvation of others, and to quicken in them an eager desire for their own growth in grace.

Dr. Gregory was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1824. In 1838 he united with the Second Presbyterian Church of that city. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1834, and from the Theological Seminary at Princeton in 1847. He was ordained, by the Presbytery of Philadelphia, in 1848, to become a Missionary among the Choctaw Indians. His health failing him, he returned to the East, and became pastor, first, of the Presbyterian Church in Oneida, N. Y., and then of the First Presbyterian Church in Bridgeton, N. J. In 1873 he entered upon his work as Professor of Rhetoric in Lincoln University, in which he continued until his death. In his various fields of labor he approved himself as a faithful workman, giving to God the praise of his efficiency. We have reason to thank God that such a laborer was associated with us in this work. He stamped his own traits and character upon the classes that enjoyed his instruction. The William E. Dodge Professorship of Rhetoric, made vacant by the death of Dr. Gregory, has not yet been filled. The Lord, who sent him to this work, will have a cure for the work from which he has called his servant.

Negotiations are now in progress to fill the vacancy.

The whole work of Lincoln University needs immediate and indefinite enlargement. It would require a small comparative addition to her funds to double her power for usefulness. The attention of considerate friends is particularly invited to the following special wants :

The complete endowment of the chair of Natural Science.

The establishment of the chair of Hebrew in the Theological Department.

The establishment of a chair of Church and General History.

The erection of the complementary wing to University Hall, providing additional accommodations for instruction.

The erection of a separate chapel for the Sabbath and daily devotional services.

The provision by endowment for the care and improvement of the property of the University.

The endowment of Scholarships to secure the perpetual education of worthy young men whose diligence, talents and piety give promise of usefulness.

The erection of a new Hall for the increase of Students.

Adequate provision for the use, enlargement and preservation of the Library.

Among the instrumentalities through which the friends of the Negro may convey to him the blessings of education, Lincoln University especially deserves the confidence of the Christian public. She was the first to enter this field, when there was no other to undertake the work. Lincoln University was chartered in 1854. She is still doing a large share of the higher work. Worthy applicants are knocking at our doors, eager for the benefits here afforded. Who will say to us, "Turn no worthy man away who desires an education for the sake of the good he can do with it?"

Five hundred young men have been sent out from the Preparatory Department and from the lower classes of the Collegiate Department, many of whom are engaged in important positions as teachers in the Southern States.

One hundred and sixty have been graduated from the Collegiate Department, after a course of instruction extending through four and in many cases six years. Of these graduates more than one hundred are engaged in professional and educational labors in the Southern States.

More than one hundred of the students of Lincoln University have received license, or ordination as ministers in the several Evangelical Protestant denominations.

Seven of our students have gone to Africa as Missionaries of the cross. Six have laid down their lives in that work.

The University is consecrated to the glory of God and the good of man. It has received the endorsement of all who are acquainted with its work. The friends of the education of "colored youth" are cordially invited to investigate its plans and operations, and to co-operate with its officers in conferring the benefits of a liberal and Christian culture on those who prize and so much need this blessing.
