Founded in 1854, as Ashmun Institute, and established as this nation’s first historically black, degree-granting college-university.

As Horace Mann Bond, ’23, the eighth president of Lincoln University, so eloquently cites in the opening chapter of his book, Education for Freedom, this was “the first institution found anywhere in the world to provide a higher education in the arts and sciences for male youth of African descent.” The Institute was re-named Lincoln University in 1866 after President Abraham Lincoln.

Lincoln is surrounded by the rolling farmlands and wooded hilltops of southern Chester County, Pennsylvania. Its campus is conveniently located on Baltimore Pike, about one mile off US Route 1 – 45 miles southwest of Philadelphia, 15 miles northwest of Newark, Delaware, 25 miles west of Wilmington, Delaware, and 55 miles north of Baltimore, Maryland.

Since its inception, Lincoln has attracted an interracial and international enrollment from the surrounding community, region, and around the world. The University admitted women students in 1952, and formally associated with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1972 as a state-related, coeducational university. Lincoln currently enrolls approximately 2,000 students.

Located in southern Chester County, Lincoln is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools and offers academic programs in undergraduate study in the arts, sciences as well as graduate programs in human services, reading, education, mathematics, and administration.
Applicants who have previously matriculated at another higher education institution(s) will be considered for admission as a transfer student. Lincoln University offers two types of transfer student admission:

- First Time Transfer Students – applicants with 12 or more (transferrable) semester hours with a minimum 2.0 cumulative G.P.A from 100 level and above classes.
- First Year Students – applicants with less than 12 (transferrable) credits will be evaluated utilizing Lincoln University's standard admission criteria.

In order to receive consideration for admission, the following must be submitted:

- Completed Application
- $20.00 Application Fee
- Official Final High School Transcript
- Official Transcript(s) from all colleges or universities previously attended
- Dean Certification Form from all colleges or universities previously attended
- SAT or ACT Test Results if not transferring 12 credit hours (100-level or higher)

Transfer Students with less than a 2.0 cumulative grade point average will not be offered admission. Courses with grades less than “C” will not be accepted as a transferrable credit.

The Horace Mann Bond-Leslie Pinckney Hill Scholarship

The Horace Mann Bond-Leslie Pinckney Hill Scholarship allows The Lincoln University to provide continuity from its proud past to its promising future. Named in part for Horace Mann Bond, class of 1923 and the eighth president of the university, the scholarship provides full tuition for law, medicine (including podiatry) and dental education at Temple University, Pennsylvania State University, or the University of Pittsburgh to eligible graduates of The Lincoln University. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has funded the scholarship since 1983 and restructured it in 1998 to attract highly qualified students to Lincoln’s pre-professional programs and to increase the number of graduates entering professional degree programs in Pennsylvania universities.

Deadline

The application deadline is April 18th of each year.
Lincoln University provides many opportunities for students to meet new people outside of the classroom to further enhance their college experience. There are over 60 student organizations promoting different hobbies and interests that students can use to showcase their creativity and to enjoy with their free time.
