Form W-4 (2017)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when your personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2017 expires February 15, 2018. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note: If another person can claim you as a dependent on his or her tax return, you can't claim exemption from withholding if your total income exceeds $1,050 and includes more than $350 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends).

Exceptions. An employee may be able to claim exemption from withholding even if the employee is a dependent, if the employee:

- Is age 65 or older,
- Is blind, or
- Will claim adjustments to income; tax credits; or itemized deductions, on his or her tax return.

The exceptions don't apply to supplemental wages greater than $1,000,000.

Basic instructions. If you aren't exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 further adjust your withholding allowances based on itemized deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earners/multiple jobs situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you can claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependent(s) or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information, for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowable number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 505 for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 505 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 505 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see Notice 1392, Supplemental Form W-4 Instructions for Nonresident Aliens, before completing this form.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 505 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your projected total tax for 2017. See Pub. 505, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $180,000 (Married).

Future developments. Information about any future developments affecting Form W-4 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) will be posted at www.irs.gov/w4.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONFIDENTIALITY AND SECURITY

Confidentiality of University records and security of University property is a matter of concern for all supervisors who provide the opportunity for student employees under the Federal Work Study Program or the Institutional Work Aid Program to work in their departments. Student employees are entrusted with University records of a personal and confidential nature and are given access to use various office equipment assessed with security or personal codes. Therefore, every student employee must recognize the importance of their responsibility for preserving the confidentiality and security of University records and property. Since an employee's conduct, either on or off the job, may threaten security and confidentiality of University records, any employee or person with authorized access to University records and equipment is responsible for adherence to the following policies:

- Student employees should not reproduce or destroy any departmental information or information contained within student files without prior authorization from supervisor.
- Student employees should not use or permit others to use any University property or departmental equipment (i.e., telephone, computer, copiers, etc.) for personal use.
- Student employees should not seek personal benefit or permit others to personally benefit from any confidential information which has come to them through their job assignment.
- Student employees should not divulge or reveal the contents of any record or report to any person except in the conduct of their regular work duties.
- Student employees should not knowingly include or cause to be included any false, inaccurate or misleading entry into any file, record or report.
- Student employees should not remove any official record, report, copy, or equipment from the office without prior approval from supervisor, except in performance of authorized regular work duties.
- Student employees should not aid, promote, or act in conspiracy with any other person to violate any part of this Code. Any violation of this Code should be immediately reported to their immediate supervisor and the Student Employment Coordinator.

Students participating in the Student Employment Program are legally bound by the rules and regulations that govern the program. Violation of the policies contained within the Responsibility for Confidentiality and Security may lead to termination and/or suspension from either program.

I have read and fully understand the above Responsibility for Confidentiality and Security and as a participant in the Student Employment Program, I agree to uphold the policies contained within.
