

Faculty Bio

Name: Chéri Sides Phillips

Position: Assistant Professor of Finance

Department of: Business & Entrepreneurial Studies

Bio:

Chéri Sides Phillips is a teaching macroeconomist with progressive experience in corporate finance and educational leadership.

Chéri recently taught at SUNY Cortland in New York. Previously, she was at Lipscomb University (TN), Lane College (TN) and Shandong University of Science & Technology in Jinan, Peoples Republic of China.

She is a Duke University DITE Fellow and holds DBA, MSc and BSBA degrees in Economics.

Educational Background:

Doctor of Business Administration, Jacksonville University
Master of Science, Economics, Texas A & M University Commerce
Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, Economics, Southeast Missouri State University
General Studies, Fisk University

Classes Taught:

Leadership & Ethics in Business; Principles of Management; Principles of Marketing; Principles of Macroeconomics, Principles of Microeconomics, Leadership & Ethics in Business; Principles of Management; Principles of Marketing; Principles of Macroeconomics, Principles of Microeconomics,

Research Interest:

Political Economy (impact on African American households); Personnel Economics; and Business Economics

Email: cphillips@lincoln.edu