

*The Alumni Directory
Of Lincoln University*

Centennial Edition

Foreword

The Centennial Alumni Directory lists students by classes and indexes them alphabetically and geographically. Graduates of the college are listed first, followed by non-graduates. A student who received degrees from both the college and the seminary is listed with his college class only. Seminary graduates who received their undergraduate degree elsewhere are listed under SEMINARY.

The class list places a graduate under the year in which the degree was granted and a non-graduate with the class in which he entered. Every effort has been made to present names, addresses, and classes accurately, a difficult task in many instances because of the failure or delay on the part of many alumni and former students in filling out and returning the directory blanks mailed to them.

Because of the magnitude of the task undertaken and the unavoidable lag between the preparation of the copy and the actual printing of the directory, it was impossible to catch every error, make address changes, add information, and/or note that some alumni and former students had died since the copy went to press. When it was not stated, an address was assumed to be a residential one. An asterisk (*) is used to indicate a deceased alumnus.

The directory proper begins with the class of 1884, the oldest class with surviving members known to the University. Any errors or omissions should be called to the attention of the editor, Office of Public Relations, Lincoln University, Lincoln University, Pa.
