GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Lincoln University is on the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad, a division of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, and may be reached directly from the Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, or the Union Station, Baltimore. The railroad station and post office each have the name "Lincoln University."

Aid and Self-Support.

Lincoln University was founded to bring the benefits of a liberal Christian education within the reach of worthy colored young men'

This end is promoted here by providing convenient buildings for study and residence, where young men who comply with the conditions of admission are welcomed and made comfortable, and by the diligent training of the students in all the parts of such an education.

All the income of the Institution, from endowment and from annual contributions, is used in favor of the students to keep the necessary charges for instruction and for living down to the lowest possible figure. The benefits provided here are within the reach of all who are willing to combine self-support with aid.

The full College bill is $129.30 and the Seminary bill is $84.00.

Every student is under obligations of fairness and honor and honesty, and also of benevolence, to do all he can to support himself, and thus share the benevolent aid, supplied through the University, with others who are equally deserving of encouragement.

Personal Expenses.

The actual expenses of a student, above what is included in the session bills, depend on his habits and economy.

He must have text books for each year of the course.

The purchase and repair of clothing is a recurring necessity.

He cannot travel to and from the University without money to pay his fare.

The literary societies justly require annual contributions.

These personal expenses are the care of the individual students.

It is not the purpose of the Trustees to relieve the student from the necessity of making provision for his own personal wants.

Herein especially they exact co-operation.

Each student must provide beforehand to meet these necessities, or they will distress him.

And besides securing home assistance, he should be industrious in his vacations to increase his honest carnings in every lawful way, and should honorably save them for these uses. To spend his earnings in superfluities or in extravagances is to squander them and to barter his education for his enjoyments.

After every effort he will not escape the discipline of want. In enduring this discipline he is practicing a virtue.

A manly struggle will help to subdue pride and cultivate self-reliance and trust in God.

In a student struggling with poverty for an education any luxurious indulgence is a disabling vice. He must conquer it, or it will cripple him in his powers and in his usefulness.

His wise friends may sympathize with him in his trials, but they will not excuse him from the practice of self-denial, and thereby of self-control.

The common judgment is that HE WHO CANNOT ENDURE THE TRIAL IS NOT WORTH THE HELP.

Cigarette smoking is prohibited.

All smoking in the halls and public rooms is forbidden.

The whole tobacco habit is discouraged.

The use of distilled or fermented liquors is prohibited.

No firearms or weapons of any kind are allowed.

Many benevolent friends of the Negro are co-operating with the Trustees and Faculty in providing aid for those who will use their education for the good of others. Careful discrimination is exercised in directing this aid to individuals, so as not to weaken the sense of personal responsibility and self-reliance, Those who can pay their own bills have only to comply with the regulations and they will be admitted to the standing in the classes for which their previous training has fitted them. No earnest young man of good abilities and good moral character should be discouraged from seeking the advantages which are here offered.

Admission of Students.

Applicants should apply for admission to the President, or to Prof. Wm. H. Johnson. Dean of the Faculty of Arts, or to Prof. J. M. Galbreath, Dean of the Faculty of Theology and state in their application their purpose in seeking an education, what progress they have made in study, and the degree of their ability to meet the expenses of education.

Every applicant for admission must present evidence of good moral character; and if from any other institution, a certificate of honorable dismission from the proper authorities.

Entrance Examinations.

Examinations for the admission of students to the Collegiate and Theological Departments of the University will be held in University Hall on the 23rd and 24th of September, 1908.

Latin and Greek.

Inasmuch as the candidate for the Freshman Class is required to have a knowledge of English Grammar such as is given in High Schools and Academies, including the application of the rules of grammar to the analysis of sentences, it is expected and required in order to his unconditional admission into the Freshman Class.

- 1. That he should be familiar with Latin and Greek Grammar, and read the first book of Caesar, and the first book of Anabasis.
- 2. That he should manifest an intelligent interest in these languages by a knowledge of the meaning of the words employed in the parts of the grammar studied, and and by analyzing simple sentences.

The admission of a student into the Freshman Class depends upon his ability to pass these examinations creditably. No one unable to meet these requirements is invited to enter Lincoln University as a student. No certificate or statement is accepted in place of these examinations, except in case of students coming with certificates from the principals of schools with whom special arrangements are made. Applicants are urged to make special reviews of their studies in so far as may be necessary for successfully meeting these tests. Some of these studies are reviewed in the Freshman Class, but the reviews are not meant as substitutes for the preparatory requirements. A satis'actory examination upon advanced work in any subject may be accepted as a substitute for deficiency in another department in preparing for which the candidate has not had opportunity; the advanced knowledge in the one giving time for making up the deficiency in the other.

Text-Books.

The Text-books required at the beginning of the Freshman year in the different departments are—

Whitney's Essentials of English Grammar.

After passing satisfactory examinations in the studies required for admission to the Freshman Class (or to any advanced class), the candidate for admission shall matriculate by subscribing to the laws of the University, and by the payment of a matriculation fee.

Candidates for admission to the higher classes will be examined in all the studies of the previous years.

Advancement

The advancement of a student to the higher classes depends on his success in scholarship, and on his worthiness in character, and on his disposition to use his education for the benefit of all whom he can influence for good. Advancement to each successive class and to recommendation for graduation depends on the vote of the Faculty. Neglect of duty, indifference to scholarship, general worthlessness, without any proved particularly gross offense, will be visited with dismission. The Ten Commandments are laws of the University.

Attendance

All students in the University are required to attend daily prayers, religious services on the Lord's Day, and all exercises of instruction and recitation assigned to them.

Students regularly advanced with their classes in the courses of study are required to return promptly to the University at the opening of each session.

Library

During the year 1908 there have been added to the Library by gift and purchase 154 new and second-hand books. The number of volumes now in the Library is approximately 19,000.

Donations of books have been received from the following, for which public acknowledgment is hereby made: Miss Gulick, Devon, Pa.; Miss M. C. Miller, library of the late Rev. W. H. Miller, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Dr. I. N. Rendall, Dr. W. H. Roberts, Dr. John D Countermine, Philadelphia; Mrs. Pearson, Harrisburg; Dr. Alexander Henry, Philadelphia.

The use of a large and convenient house suitable for the summer residence of the guests of the Assembly has been freely given to the Board of Trustees. For the furtherance of this movement the Trustees of Lincoln University have appointed a Board of Control consisting of the following persons:—

Mrs. Margaret M. Barber, who has been invited to become a life member of the Board of Control, the President of the University, who is the President of the Board of Control, the Rev. All the members are required to take part in these exercises. The societies are governed by laws adopted by themselves, and administered by officers chosen from their own members, under the general supervision of the Faculty of Arts. At the close of the session these societies hold their anniversaries, when an annual address is delivered by some distinguished graduate, and a Sophomore oratorical contest takes place, two gold medals being awarded as first and second prizes in each Society.

The Obdyke prize of a gold medal will be awarded to the best individual debater in a public inter-society debate to be held annually; and a shield of suitable design will be offered, to become the property of the Society which first wins three of these debates.

Theological Lyceum

The "Theological Lyceum," of which all theological students are members, meets every week for the discussion of evangelistic and theological questions. The room occupied by the Lyceum is supplied with a library of general and special commentaries, and is furnished with religious periodicals.

Missions

The missionary work of the Church is officially recognized by the University. One of the chairs of instruction in the Theological Department is in part devoted to this object. In addition a class for mission study and prayer meets each Sabbath Day under the auspices of the Missionary Committee of the Y. M. C. A. Missionaries from the field are from time to time invited to address the students.

Christian Endeavor Society

There is a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor connected with the Ashmun Church in Lincoln University. The Society meets every Saturday evening. The first Saturday evening of every month is a consecration meeting. Delegates are sent to the State and National conventions. The members unite with other Christian students to welcome the incoming students to the privileges of the University and to throw around them the safeguards of religion.

Young Men's Christian Association

A Young Men's Christian Association has been in existence for many years, and is in full and vigorous activity. The local Association is in organic connection with the Pennsylvania State Associations, and in friendly co-operation with the Associations in the Southern States.

Dickey, Esq., a member of the Board of Trustees, and a son of the honored Founder of the University, a course of lectures on Law has been delivered to the entire student body for some years by eminent lawyers, jurists and others who have given their services gratuitously to this work.

Regulations.

The course of study in the Collegiate Department occupies four years.

Frequent examinations of all the classes are held. Absence from an examination, except for reasons sustained by vote of the Faculty, will be regarded as a serious delinquency. Any student taking an examination out of the regular time, unless excused by the Faculty, will be assigned to the group next lower than that to which he would be entitled.

At the close of each year all the classes are examined, either orally or in writing, in the studies of that year.

Students delinquent in attendance, in scholarship, in character, and of bad influence are dropped from the roll.

No student of Lincoln University is allowed to solicit pecuniary aid to meet the expenses of his education. The infraction of this rule will be followed by dismission. A graduate of the University guilty of a like offense will be dropped from the roll of honor at the end of the catalogue, The name of the student or graduate whose life becomes a dishonor to himself or to his Al a Mater will not be continuously published in that roll of honor.

Examinations and Standing.

The rank of a student in his class depends on his grade in his recitations and examinations; on his punctuality and constancy in attendance upon all exercises of instruction.

The maximum mark in each study is one hundred; the minimum, or passing mark, is fifty. The rank in each course or study is determined by the instructor, who divides the class into groups.

Each class is divided into six groups:-

The first group indicates very high standing, and contains one-thirtieth to one-eighth of the entire class.

The second group indicates high standing, and contains not more than one-fifth of the entire class.

The third group indicates high medium standing, and contains not more than two-fifths of the entire class.

The fourth group indicates low medium standing, and contains not more than two-fifths of the entire class.

The fifth group indicates low standing, and contains not more than two-fifths of the entire class.

The sixth group contains any members of the class who have not reached the minimum passing mark of fifty, and who are therefore, conditioned. A student thus conditioned in any subject must remove his condition before the end of the following term.

A student conditioned in three studies, with three different instructors, is assigned to the sixth general group, and is dropped from his class.

In an elective class the above fractional parts are fractional parts of the entire class and not of the number of students taking the elective.

The general rank of a student is determined by combining his group numbers in the several courses in proportion to the allotted schedule time of each. The students whose averages are highest and above an established limit are assigned to the first general group; those next highest, to the second general group; and so on through the several groups.

General and Special Honors.

The first and second general groups in the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior Classes constitute the general roll of honor of the class, and are published in the University catalogue, with the names in each group arranged in alphabetical order.

Special honors are awarded at the close of the Sophomore year in the following departments: 1, Classics. 2, Mathematics and Science. 3, English, History, and English Bible; and at the close of the Junior year in the following departments: 1, Latin. 2, Greek. 3, Modern Languages. 4, English. 5, Bible. 6, Philosophy. 7, Science 8, History and Political Science. 9, Mathematics. These special honors are awarded to members of the Sophomore and Junior Classes, respectively, whose average rank during the year has not been below the third general group, and who have maintained a first group standing in all the departments in which the special honors are awarded, and who have also satisfactorily completed any special work required by the professors in those departments. The names of those to whom special honors are awarded are published in the University caialogue.

GRADUATION

Students who complete the whole course of study in the Collegiate Department satisfactorily to the Faculty and to the Board of Trustees, and who maintain an honorary standing for morality and manliness, receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and may, on the payment of its cost, receive a diploma certifying to their graduation.

The final standing of the graduating class is determined by combining the averages for the several years of the course, except that the average of the Freshman year is ommitted in those cases in which it would lower the standing of the student.

General honors are awarded to those members of the graduating class whose average standing thus determined is within the first, second, and third general groups. These groups are designated magua cum laude, cum laude, and cum honore respectively, and are published on the Commencement programme, and in the University catalogue, with the names in each group arranged in alphabetical order.

Special honors are awarded to those members of the graduating class whose average rank for the entire course has not been below the third general group, and who have maintained through the Junior and the Senior year a first group standing in each subject in the department in which the special honors are awarded, and who have also satisfactorily completed any special work required by the professors in those departments. These special honors are awarded in the following departments: 1, Latin. 2, Greek. 3, Modern Languages. 4, Mathematics. 5, English. 6, English Bible. 7, Science. 8, Philosophy. 9, History and Political Science; and are published on the Commencement programme and in the University Catalogue.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

The valedictorian is chosen from one of the first three general groups of the Senior Class.

After the valedictorian has been chosen the Latin salutatory is awarded to the student whose individual rank is highest.

Orations are assigned to the class with special reference to their qualifications as speakers, as well as on the ground of scholarship.

COURSES OF THE CURRICULUM

English Language and Literature.

The student, on entering the Freshman Class, must be well acquainted with the essentials of English Grammar and Analysis.

Bunyan and Milton are taken as representative English authors, and during the Freshman and Sophomore years selections from their works are studied with the care usually bestowed on the Latin and Greek classics. This course is accompanied by instruction, with written exercises, in higher Grammar, Philology, and English Composition.

The Junior Class complete their course in Rhetoric during the first session. For the second session they may elect English Literature and expression, which are studied by the text-book, along with lectures and direct examination of one or more English classics.

Essays are required in all the classes.

An original oration is delivered by each member of the Senior and Junior Classes before the Faculty and students of the University during the second term of the session.

Philosophy

The courses in this department are open to students of the Junior and Senior Classes in the College and are intended to offer the training in Philosophy, Psychology, Logic, and Ethics which is believed to be essential for a liberal education; to give instruction preliminary to certain of the professions, such as the ministry, medicine, law and teaching; and in addition to prepare students for advanced work. As at present planned, each of the four courses given occupies three hours per week for one term. In this way, the collegiate year being divided into two terms of equal length, it is possible for a student to complete the work in two years. The following courses are offered:—

I. HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY.—Weber, History of Philosophy, or Rogers, Student's History of Philosophy. Recitations and discussions.

This course traces the development of Philosophy from the earliest Greek period to the present time. It is intended to serve as a general introduction to the study of Philosophy. The students are encouraged to read collaterally and to study critically the writings of the leading philosophers of the various periods.

2. Psychology.—Thorndike, Elements of Psychology. Recitations, discussions, and exercises.

The purpose of this course is to give a summary view of the subject matter and methods of modern psychology. It is intended to supplement the courses in natural science as well as to lay a foundation, by exhibiting the forms and laws of mental activities, for the study of History, Political Economy, Philology, &c.

3. Logic.—Hibben, Logic Deductive and Inductive, or Creighton, An Introductory Logic. Recitations and exercises.

This course includes a thorough study of the principles of deductive and inductive logic. Especial attention is given to the consideration of fallacies and to the application of logical method to argument and in the sciences.

4. ETHICS.—Mackenzie, A Manual of Ethics. Recitations and discussions.

This course aims to give a careful and systematic analysis of elementary conceptions in ethics with a summary review of the principal types of ethical theory.

For graduate students in philosophy the following courses have been provided during this year:—

Kant, Kritik der reinen Vernunft. Translation and commentary, the aim being to appreciate the main features of the Kantian theory of knowledge, and to gain familiarity with the philosophical German.

Spinoza, Ethica, The work has included the translation of Part I. from the Latin, together with an exposition of Spinoza's system of thought.

German

This course is open to students of the Junior and Senior Classes in the College. Text-books, Duerr, Essentials of German Grammar, Guerber, Marchen und Erzahlungen, I.; Goethe's Faust, Part I., edited by Thomas.

Spanish

This course is open to students of the Junior and Senior Classes in the College. It is intended to give such an introductory knowledge of the Spanish language and literature as will in general serve the purposes of a liberal education, and in particular help to fit practically those who intend to devote their lives to preaching or teaching in the lands where Spanish is spoken. Text-books, Loiseux, Elementary Spanish Grammar and Reader.

French

An advanced course in the reading of Rousseau's Contrat Social is offered for the second term.

The English Bible

The Authorized Version of the English Bible is studied by all the classes in both departments of the University. The minion 12 mo. reference edition of the American Bible Society is an inexpensive and suitable text-book. The student needs also Cruden's Concordance, unabridged; and a reliable Bible Dictionary.

For admission to the Freshman Class applicants are examined in Genesis and the Gospel of Mark.

During the collegiate years the course of study embraces the historical and poetical portions of the Old and New Testaments. Special attention is given to the mutual relations of the several books, and especially their presentations of the different aspects of the one plan of salvation by Jesus Christ. The committing of Scripture to memory is an important part of the course.

Mathematics

The required course in Mathematics includes the study of Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry.

In Geometry special emphasis is laid upon the demonstration of original theorems and problems.

The essential principles of Trigonometry are carefully studied, together with their application to the measurement of heights and the surveying of land. Instruction is given in the practical use of surveying instruments, including the determination of heights and the measurement of areas.

Elective courses are offered in Advanced Algebra, Spherical Trigonometry, Analytical Geometry, and in Differential and Integral Calculus.

Astronomy

Astronomy.—Moulton's Introduction to Astronomy. The work in the class room is supplemented by lantern slides, and by the constant use of the telescopes for observation of the heavens.

A course in Pratical Astronomy, involving the determination of time and latitude and the use of the equatorials, and also a course in the History of Astronomy based on Berry's "Short History of Astronomy," is open to students who desire to continue the study further.

The Astronomical Observatory is situated at a convenient point on the College campus. The principal instruments are: An equatorial of five and one-quarter inch aperture by John Byrne with right ascension and declination circles, and driving clock, mounted on a pier of solid masonry; a telescope of four-inch aperture by Secretan, equotorially mounted; a two-inch transit instrument on pier; sextants; and electric clocks, sidereal and solar.

Natural Science

Science, as studied at present in the University, embraces Physics, Chemistry, and Physiology and Geology.

Physics is taught throughout the Sophomore year. It is taught by lectures, illustrated during the entire course by experiments. The apparatus possessed by this department is quite valuable, and growing rapidly more so through gifts of money by the friends of the Institution and the annual appropriation set apart by the Board of Trustees. Text-book: Avery's School Physics.

The floors of all the scientific rooms rise in steps from the lecture table towards the rear, in order that all experiments may be readily seen by the students.

Physiology is taught in the Junior and Senior years along with the allied branches of Anatomy and Hygiene. The lectures are illustrated by skeletons, charts, plates, and casts, and supplemented by lectures with the oxy-hydrogen lantern, in which photograms and microscopic slides are thrown on the screen. It is the aim to make this course of practical use in after life. Text-book: Potter and Brubaker.

Chemistry is taught by lectures in the Junior year and during the second session of Junior and all of the Senior year by a Laboratory Course. Text-books: R. P. William's Elements of Chemistry and Laboratory Manual or Inorganic and General Chemistry.

The new Chemical Laboratory holds eighteen tables for students, with all the modern equipment for a thorough course.

Geology is taught in the Senior and Junior years by lectures, illustrated by specimens of rocks, minerals, and fossils, also by lantern and microscopic slides. Text-book: Brigham's Geology.

Bradley Medal

The Bradley Medal is awarded to the member of the Senior Class who has maintained the highest average standing in Science during the Junior and Senior years.

History

The course in history is designed to present to the student a comprehensive view of the historical foundations of the political institutions of the United States, and their development to the present time.

In the Sophomore year the History of England is studied in order to present somewhat in detail the growth of the institutions under which the framers of our Republic obtained their training in statesmanship. Special attention is given to the social, political, and religious movements which have conditioned the life and governmental development of the English nation. The text book is supplemented by full discussion of the important questions arising in the course of the recitations.

In the Junior or Senior year instruction is given by lecture and reference in the development of the political and religious institutions of the European nations, as preparative to the formation of American institutions. This outline of the Constitutional History of Europe is followed by a similar treatment of the origin and unfolding of the institutions of the United States, with special reference to present tendencies in the light of historical knowledge.

Political Economy

The principles of Political Economy are taught in the first session of the Senior or Junior year in three weekly recitations. A text-book is used for the theoretic groundwork; and for the consideration of the practical economic problems of present importance there are held free discussions and lectures.

Sociology

The foundations of Sociology are studied in the second term of the Junior or Senior year, three weekly lectures with recitations being devoted to the subject. The structure of society, the social forces, and their modes of operation are treated with special attention to the problems of practical Sociology calling for present adjustment.

Greek

Instruction in this department extends through the whole collegiate course. Special effort is made in the later years of the course to rise above details of construction to the criticism of the thought and style of the authors read, and to secure to the student the advantages of exactness and precision in his own thinking, and of readiness and propriety in expression.

An honor course is usually offered to those members of the Senior or Junior Classes who have shown marked proficiency in this department. A special library of selected books is provided for the use of such students, to which they have constant access. Some one Greek author is read, and in connection with this study, papers and theses calculated to inspire original investigation are required from the more advanced students. This course is intended to be especially helpful to those who may subsequently become teachers of this or allied branches. Authors to be studied during the present year are as follows: Xenophon's Anabasis (Goodwin & White), Herodotus (Selections, Merry), Greek History (Botsford with lectures and collateral reading), Homer's Iliad (Sterrett), Xenophon's Memorabilia of Socrates (Winans), with lectures on Greek Literature.

Latin

The authors read are Caesar, Sallust, Livy, Virgil, Horace, Cicero, and Tacitus. The course also includes Mythology, Roman History, Arnold's Latin Prose Composition, and selections from various authors and a manual of Latin Literature.

The students in the early part of their course are thoroughly drilled in the analysis of sentences and grammatical structure. After these the questions are largely philological, and derivation receives special attention.

When the poetic authors are reached the students give attention to versification. The rhetorical suggestions of Horace and Cicero are noted.

Thus the various departments of instruction are made to help each other. The latter portions of the course furnish occasion to bring out the style and spirit of the authors.

Pedagogy

The topics included in the studies of the year have been:— The vocabulary of the Science of Pedagogy.

The special aim of Education in General and Technical Schools.

The subjects capable of receiving education, limits of age, and of persons.

The powers of the mind, as the instruments of progress in education.

The curriculum of studies in schools of higher education, and the function of each branch of study.

The co-operation of the guardians of education—Parents, the State, the Church—and the contribution of each to the special and general result.

The special contribution which each student makes towards his own education by the energy of his aspirations, by his faithfulness and diligence, in all mental work, by all the traits of his mental and moral character, and by all his formed and forming mental and moral habits.

The habits of students—their formation, their modification, responsibility for them.

The Library of the University supplies some good material for general reading on Pedagogy; but it is very desirable that the valuable publications of recent years should be added to its shelves.

Elective Honor Courses

Any professor may offer elective honor courses in his department, and to these courses any student of the Senior and Junior Classes may be admitted who shall have taken a first, second or third general group standing for the previous term, and a first or second group standing in the department in which the honor course is taken. Students of the Theological Department, with the consent of the Faculty of Theology, and other students of the Upper College Classes who have taken at least a third group standing, may be admitted to these courses at the discretion of the professor.

Admission to the Seminary

In accordance with the recommendations of the Genera Assembly each applicant for the full course shall produce evidence that he has good talents, is prudent and discreet, is in full church communion, and has had a collegiate course or its equivalent.

An English course of three years has been provided for a few students whose preparation and time necessitate a more limited course. It embraces, also, a few courses of study in the Collegiate Department.

- 1. Any applicant for the English Theological Course, who is less than twenty-five years of age, shall be required to take the College Course.
- 2. Any applicant over twenty-five years of age may be admitted to the Course (a) on presenting with his application a testimonial from some minister or ecclesiastical body, stating that the applicant has such gifts as render him a promising candidate for the ministry, and that it is deemed wise for him to take the Theological Course without further preparation, and (b) on passing satisfactory examinations, which, except when otherwise arranged, shall be held in Lincoln University on the day preceding the opening of the Seminary, and which will include those studies required for admission to the College, excepting Greek and Latin, but including the Bible History of the Old and New Testaments.
- 3. The time regularly spent upon Greek and Hebrew in the Seminary shall, in the case of students pursuing the English Theological Course, be replaced by such College studies as the Faculty may recommend, in view of the needs of each student. Furthermore, each student shall be required to attend faithfully the classes assigned to him, and to pass the usual examinations in such classes.

4. A copy of these recommendations shall be printed and sent to every applicant for the English Course; he being advised not to present himself unless he can fulfill the requirements of Article 2, nor to come to the Seminary until his application has been approved.

COURSES OF THE CURRICULUM

English Bible

The design of the Board of Trustees in establishing this Chair is to secure that no student shall be graduated from the Theological Department of this Institution without acquiring a thorough knowledge of the Bible in the English language.

To this end the Board of Trustees has enjoined it upon the Faculty of Theology to require the students under the direction of the incumbent of this Chair to read the whole Bible carefully and studiously, and to commit to memory such passages as may be assigned to them with this design.

Instruction is given on the versions of the sacred Scriptures, specially on the history of the English Version. The four-fold record of the life of Christ, the Epistles of Paul, and the Prophetical Books of the Old and New Testaments are carefully taught. The information is imparted in a practical form, that it may be of service to the young men as teachers preachers, and pastors. Before entering the Theological course the student is expected to be familiar with the historical and poetical portions of the Scriptures. And while in this department they are enjoined to read the whole Bible with studious and reverent attention.

Hebrew

Hebrew is taught throughout the three years.

The Junior year is given to acquiring an exact knowledge of the language, the blackboard being constantly used in teaching. The grammatical principles and a good working vocabulary are gradually acquired. They are practically applied from the beginning in converting English into Hebrew, either as impromptu work upon the board in the class-room, or as home exercises to be corrected afterwards before the class. Davidson's Introductory Hebrew Grammar and Hebrew Syntax are the text-books used. During the latter part of the Junior year selections from Genesis xii-xxv and 1 Kings xvii-xxii are translated.

In the Middle year a careful exegetical study is made of some portion of the Poetic Books—this year selections from the Psalms. Other parts of the Poetic Books are read as sight reading. Introductory lectures are delivered upon Hebrew Poetry and the Poetic Books.

In the Senior year some portion of the Prophetic Books is studied exegetically—this year Isaiah. Introductory lectures are delivered upon the Prophetic Books, setting forth the date, authorship, circumstances, and the exact import of each book, special attention being paid to the theology of each. Portions are read as sight reading.

Chief emphasis is placed upon Exegesis, not only as a means of discovering the exact meaning of the Old Testament Scriptures, but also for the purpose of furnishing material for homiletic use. Instruction is also given regarding the Hebrew canon, text, manuscripts, and the early versions. An outline of the history of the Hebrew people during the period covered by the Old Testament books is developed during the three years' course. All such introductory work is conducted upon the basis of a syllabus placed in the hands of each student, requiring him constantly to refer to his English Bible and to standard works in the University Library. A special class is conducted in Biblical Aramaic during the last year when desirable, the Aramaic portion of the Book of Daniel being the basis of study.

Church History

For the study of Church History the Senior and Middle classes have been combined in a course covering two years of study from the founding of the Church to the twentieth century.

The design of the course is to trace the growth of the Church in missionary expansion, in doctrinal definition, in organization, in life and worship, with just emphasis on the critical and epochal events, that the student may be able to grasp the salient features of ecclesiastical history, and estimate intelligently the values in the great movements which urge the Church forward in its universal mission.

The first year's course treats of the history of the Church from Apostolic times to the dawn of the Protestant Reformation

The second year's course treats of the history of the Church from the opening of the Protestant Reformation to the present time.

Each student is required to write a carefully prepared thesis on some assigned subject involving independent research, within the sphere of each year's work.

New Testament Literature

An attempt is made to cover the field of New Testament study as thoroughly as can be done in the time allotted. Exegesis is given the most prominent place, and special effort is made by the careful reading of selected books to train the student in a sound exegetical method, which shall be of practical value to him in the ministry. It is believed that facility in reading the Greek Testament must, in most cases, be gained if at all during the Seminary course, and much attention is paid to sight reading and the rapid reading of extended passages, with a view to gaining familiarity with the New Testament vocabulary and construction.

In the Junior year lectures are given on New Testament Language, Textual Criticism, and the Canon, in connection with a careful reading of Galatians and an outline study of the Life of Christ.

The Middle Year is devoted to the exegesis of the Epistle to the Romans and a study of Pauline theology, together with the reading of the Epistle of James.

In the Senior year Apostolic History is studied and most of the book of Acts is read. The Pauline and Catholic Epistles are taken up in their historical connection, with the exegesis of some selected epistle.

Systematic Theology

The courses in this department are required of students during the three years of the Seminary Course. There is presupposed the usual undergraduate training in Philosophy, Literature and Science. The intention is to impart an adequate knowledge of Christian doctrine in general and the system of theology embodied in the Westminster Standards in particular.

The instruction aims at being scriptural, historical and constructive. Ample opportunity is given for free discussion; the students are encouraged to read collaterally, and special effort is made to train them in intelligent thinking on theological subjects.

The consulting room in the Library will be found well supplied with works on Theology, past and present. In the reading room a number of representative periodicals devoted to the subject may always be found.

The following courses are given this year:

- 1. Systematic Theology.—During the year the following topics have been considered; The Idea and Aim of Systematic Theology, Religion, Revelation and Inspiration. The Doctrine of God and the Trinity, Creation, Providence, Miracles, Sin, The Person and Satisfaction of Christ, The Doctrine of Salvation, The Means of Grace, and The Last Things.
- 2. The Westminster Confession.—The historical setting of the Confession is carefully considered, and then the Confession itself is studied in connection with the scripture basis on which its statements rest.

In connection with the course each student is required to commit to memory and to recite in the class-room the "Shorter Catechism" of the Westminster Assembly.

Pastoral Theology

• The course of study in Pastoral Theology will cover two years of the curriculum, and has been arranged with a view to the practical treatment of every phase of activity and influence which belongs to the Christian pastorate. The Pastoral Epistles are carefully studied at the outset as the foundation for the whole course of instruction, and special emphasis is laid upon the personal and spiritual elements of ministerial training.

Christian Evidences

The range of studies under this head will include, in general, the grounds of Christian belief.

The aim is to present in connected form the evidences—drawn from all sources—of revealed religion.

In connection with the study of Biblical Archæology, one session will be devoted to the evidences of the truth of the sacred Scriptures from the monumental records of the past.

Biblical Archæology

A definite and accurate knowledge of the social, religious, and political life of the nations of the East in Bible times will be the object of the study.

Special attention will be given to the rapidly accumulating testimonies of modern discovery and research; and, whenever necessary, the subject matter of the text book will be supplemented by lectures and stereopticon illustrations.

The topography and general features of the lands of the Bible will be carefully studied in the first session of the Junior year. The land of Israel, by Dr. Stewart, is used as a text book.

Analysis of the subjects treated, outline maps, and essays on special themes will be required during the course.

Church Government and the Sacraments.

One hour a week throughout the Senior year is given to the study of Church Government and The Sacraments.

This includes:—

- 1. A course of instruction on the distinctive forms of church government and the details of Presbyterian policy, modes of discipline, and rules of order.
- 2. Instruction in the institution, design, efficacy, and administration of the sacraments. The questions in the shorter catechism furnish the groundwork for the practical phases of this study, and the answers to these questions are memorized, as well as carefully studied.

The revised edition of Form of Government will be used as the basis of this study. This will be supplemented by lectures. Dr. J. Aspinwall Hodge's Manual of Presbyterian Law is also used as a book of reference.

Ecclesiastical Latin.

One hour a week in Ecclesiastical Latin is assigned to the Junior Class. The author read and discussed is Thomas a Kempis. The day has not yet come when Protestant Christians can afford to lay aside the knowledge of the tongue in which the Latin Church publishes its dogmas and decrees to the world for obedience. Our own Church still exacts a Latin thesis from her candidates for the ministry. As a part of this course such a thesis is required of each member of the Senior Class.

Sacred Rhetoric.

Broadus' 'Preparation and Delivery of Sermons' is used as text book. In the Middle and Senior years instruction is also given by lectures, by the analysis of texts and the making of plans, and by criticism of the sermons delivered by the students. Extempore, as well as written, sermons are required from the students of the Middle and Senior classes, who are also taught and trained in elocutionary expression.

During the Middle and Senior years students are required to preach without manuscript.

Each Senior student preaches at a public service in the Chapel, and is afterwards criticised in private by the Seminary professors.

Evangelism.

Evangelism as a special topic of study has been introduced into the Theological Curriculum by the action of the Board of Trustees. All the classes have been invited in the study.

The topics which have engaged the attention of the students during the current year are:—

The Idea of Evangelism as gathered from the Bible.

The technical definition of Evangelism with each of its constituent elements.

The gospel and civilization, as forces for the World's betterment.

The Gospel alone efficient and sufficient.

The Gospel is good news for all peoples and for all men.

The conditions of the Gospel: Faith. Receiving Christ. Repentance. The Cure of Sin. Obedience to the Lord Jesus Christ.

General Statement

Lincoln University is in Chester County, Pennsylvania, half a mile from Lincoln University Station, on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad. That part of Chester County in which the University is situated is notably free from malarial and pulmonary diseases. The Institution is well removed from associations which divert the mind from literary pursuits and substitute culture for character. The post office, where the Resident Professors should be addressed is LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

Chester County, Fa.

Lincoln University

The corporate title of this Institution is "Lincoln University." Bequests intended to promote the work of this University will be legally valid under that title. To the title add Chester County, Pa., to prevent confusion with other institutions having the same prefix.

The first charter of this Institution was granted by the State of Pennsylvania, under the title of "Ashman Institute," in 1854. In 1866 the title was changed by amendment of the charter to "Lincoln University." In 1897 the control of the Theological Department was given to the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America both in respect to instruction and property.

The Collegiate Department is not under Denominational control.

Property.

The property of Lincoln University consists of one hundred and thirty-two acres of land, in Lower Oxford Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania; buildings, endowments, and apparatus.

Buildings.

THE MARY DOD BROWN MEMORIAL CHAPEL, the gift of the late Mrs. Susan D. Brown, of Princeton, N. J. The chapel cotains an audience room for Sabbath services capable of seating four hundred persons, and a Prayer Hall for daily use communicating with the chapel by sliding frames.

UNIVERSITY HALL is designed exclusively for recitation purposes. It is heated by steam throughout. Its ventilation has been carefully regarded. The Chemical and Physical rooms are in the basement. They are furnished with water pipes and chimney ventilation. Provision has been made in them for the preservation of the valuable apparatus of the University, and for experimental instruction in these departments of Natural Science. This hall was built with undesignated funds of the University.

LIVINGSTONE HALL is for Commencement assemblies, and will seat one thousand persons. The gift of Miss Susan Gorgas, of West Chester, Pa.

THE HARRIET WATSON JONES HOSPITAL is for the use of students in cases of serious illness or accident. The gift of J. M. C. Dickey, Esq., of Oxford, Pa.

 As_{HMUN} Hall is a dormitory for students. Built with undesignated funds.

LINCOLN HALL contains dormitories for students, and the Janitor's apartments. Built with undesignated funds.

CRESSON HALL is a dormitory for students. The gift of the Freedmen's Bureau, under Gen. O. O, Howard.

Houston Hall contains dormitories and study rooms occupied at present by the Theological students, and the room for the Theological and Missionary Society. The gift of the late H. H. Houston, Esq., of Philadelphia, Pa.

There are ten residences for Professors.

The Vail Memorial Library.

This beautiful structure, precious as a memorial, and doubly precious as a testimonial of the goodwill of living friends, comprises a stack room, with a capacity of thirty thousand volumes; a consulting room, with encyclopaedias and other books of reference; and a reading room, with daily papers and current periodicals. The number of volumes now in the Library is eighteen thousand. The Library is the gift of William H. Vail, of Newark, N. J.

For the regular increase of the Library the University has no special fund. Until such a fund is established we must depend, for the increase and improvement of the Library, on the thoughtful liberality of our friends. All books on all subjects have a worth in a library greater than their market value. Contributions of books will be thankfuly received.

Lavatory and Gymnasium

Through the liberality of several friends of Lincoln University a Lavatory, with Gymnasium features, has been erected-

Apparatus for the Gymnasium is an immediate and urgent necessity. The students have united with the Faculty in making a small contribution to this necessity.

The McCauley Refectory

A bequest from the late Rev. Dr. Thomas McCauley and Mrs, Mary D. McCauley has been applied to the erection of a commodious Refectory on the grounds of the University for the better and more convenient boarding of the students.

The whole building is heated by steam, and is supplied with water from a central reservoir.

The basement has in it a storeroom, a kitchen with ranges, a bakery, and the heating apparatus.

The first story contains dining rooms, having a serving room, a dumb waiter, and a steam table

Part of the second story makes a convenient home for the caterer and his family and staff.

Central Heating Plant

A Central Heating Plant has been erected during the past Summer and is now in successful operation and never before have dormitories, public buildings and professor's residences been so comfortably heated. Grateful acknowledgement is hereby made of gifts amounting to nearly $30,000, towards the erection of the plant.

The Aim of Lincoln University

The design of Lincoln University, as embodied in its charter, is to provide intelligent Christian helpers for our negro population, for Africans in their ancestral continent or scattered throughout the world. Every thousand laborers and mechanics and farmers need a pious, well-educated, devoted minister. Of the 10,000 educated ministers of the Gospel required to meet this necessity, not as many as 2000 have been thus qualified by all the Churches to fulfill in part their duty toward the Negroes. Every fifty children need a competent, conscientious teacher. The highest skill in trades and other manual industries will not alone qualify any one to be a preacher to a congregation of sinners, or to be the pastor of a flock of believers, or to be a teacher of a community of youth in the moralities of life.

Lincoln University is pledged by its charter and by the trusts which it has accepted, to apply all its resources hitherto received to promote this higher education of the man in the mechanic, of the family in the community, and of the immortal in his present life.

It is the purpose of the Trustees and Faculty of Lincoln University to communicate, without stint and without delay, according to its means all the advantages of a liberal and Christian education to worthy young men who may become leaders if the colored people, in the conviction that this is fair to them; that their needs are as high as those of other men; and that as God has given them the ability to acquire all the parts of such education, making no difference between them and us in natural endowments, so He will give them grace to use the power which accompanies education for the spiritual and moral elevation of their people, and for the general good of all people.

The education imparted at Lincoln University is both liberal and technical. The aim of the course of studies is to cultivate and develop the whole man, to qualify him for the practical duties of life, and to dispose him to be a helper to his fellowmen.

The Christian Church cannot make the end of their educational work for the Negro merely the promotion of his industrial prosperity. The Negro laborer is in a family which needs to be made a Christian home. If his home is to acquire and preserve a Christian character, it must be surrounded by all the safeguards of the Christian Church, including an educated ministry.

The Constitution of Lincoln University

Lincoln University is a Christian agency for the higher education of the Negro. The Rev. Dr. John M. Dickey, its founder, was an honored Presbyterian minister. Lincoln University was constituted in 1859 by the act of the Presbytery of New Castle, Del. In 1871 it was taken under the care of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, and enrolled among its theological seminaries. The Board of Trustees and Faculty are members of the Presbyterian Church. Its aim and its methods have received the critical approbation of the General Assembly and of the Synod of Pennsylvania, and they have advised the churches to add to the endowment of its Theological and Collegiate Department $250,000 each; although the Collegiate Department is independent of its control.

The Higher Christian Education of the Negro.

The higher Christian education of the Negro is one of his highest necessities. He must have the higher education because he is a man having the high dignity of being made in the image of God. His higher wants and their supply cannot be deferred to his physical needs without peril to his spiritual nature. Manual industry is not in itself a prelude to religion. Skilled workmen are not thereby Christians. Industry is God's law; but it must be sanctified to be a blessing. We are reconciled to work because it is God's ordinance, and He makes it a blessing to all who keep His law of six days' work, and Sabbath change from manual labor to religious work.

The only way to make education Christian is to teach the Christian religion to the student. This is the natural duty of the parents. But when the parents are incompetent through ignorance, or are prevented by the necessity of protracted and exhausting toil, it is the province and duty of the Church to lend a helping and a guiding hand.

The heart of Lincoln University is the Ashmun Church in which are conducted all the ordinances of religion—daily public morning and evening prayers with reading of the Scriptures; the mid-week lecture; the Y. P. S. C. E.; the Y. M.

C. A.; Sabbath preaching services; the Lord's Supper; and the Sabbath School, are features of our University life.

The Bible is taught as one of the courses of study in every class. One professor devotes his whole time to the instruction of the students in the Authorized English Version of the Bible-It is a part of the duty of every professor to exemplify in himself, and teach and enforce upon the intelligence and conscience of his classes the principles and moralities of the word of God. In the history of Lincoln University the baptism of the Spirit has often accompanied the faithful teaching and preaching of the Gospel.

Results.

The Christian features of our University life have been strongly manifested in the subsequent life work of our students. These gratifying and satisfactory results cannot be exhibited in a catalogue. They are multiplied all over our country in Christian homes, in all departments of business and professional life, in schools of manual and mental industry, in a thousand churches and communities where they have justified the bounty of God, and the goodwill of their higher friends.

The Unconcealed Purpose of God Towards the Negro

It would be the wisdom of human counsellors to derive their wisdom from the will of God manifested in His Providence and grace. Since God has spoken, wise men will hear and obey. A divine revelation of duty makes delay or doubt a sin.

God's purpose is manifest in His general and gracious Providence toward the Negro, by the bestowment of capacities and endowments of which he cannot divest himself, and of which other men cannot deprive him. His aspirations, and even his pride, prove that his consciousness has the high range of all mental and moral achievements.

His Southern friends, who perhaps know him better than others of more distant sympathy, have imputed to the Negro in frequent instances the highest qualities of moral and spiritual life. All the legal restrictions formerly enacted as impediments to his intellectual development, and in futherance of his industrial value were so many evidences that the closest and most interested observers had discovered his mental The Negro, no more than other creatures, could transcend his natural powers. A human statute intended to prevent him from becoming equal to other men could only express the fear or the unfriendliness of those who made it. Even the form of the prevailing and growing prejudices of men against the Negro is the testimony of his critics or his enemies that he has the very highest human attributes, which make him amenable to all the requirements as well as to all the penalties of law. Blame and threatening and vengeance are obviously unjust unless the object of them is the proper subject of righteous law. But if the Negro is justly blamed for his ill-doing, he is also as justly entitled to human praise and confidence for well-doing. The prejudice of men Providentially require them to raise their estimate of the Negro to the full height of amenability to the law of God, both in respect of obedience and PROTECTION.

The Negro has received special Providential tokens of God's favor. Their generations are not becoming extinct. They are one-eighth of the population of the globe. Capacities of knowledge and righteousness are features of God's image. In enstamping upon them these attributes, God had given them the high honor of His likeness. In multiplying them He makes it clear that He is not ashamed to own them as His children.

And God has shown in Gospel times what He would have done to Ethiopians. When one of them came from his benighted home to Jerusalem to worship and was returning thither unenlightened in saving knowledge, the Spirit of God called an occupied and successful evangelist to leave the spiritual harvest field of Samaria and overtake the fast-receding traveler, and preach unto him Jesus. In him Ethiopia was not allowed to stretch out her hands to God in vain. What He did to the treasurer of Candace, let us do to our contemporaneous Ethiopians. He admitted him to the brotherhood of faith. Let us welcome them to its earthly advantages. If God has called any of them to preach the Gospel to their perishing fellowmen, we are working in the line of His purpose when we are organizing the agencies which promote their knowledge of saving truth and their fitness to proclaim it. God will be glorified in the Ethiopians. In laboring for their salvation Lincoln University is a co-worker with God in His gracious purpose.

WANTS OF LINCOLN UNIVERSITY Endowment

In accordance with the plan of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church for the government of theological seminaries, the Board of Trustees has put the Theological Department of the University under the control of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America.

This change of our charter requiring the funds of the University held for theological education to be under the control of the General Assembly, and to be exclusively used for theological purposes, necessitates the full and separate endowment of the Theological Department.

The separate and adequate endowment and equipment of the Theological Department would require about $250,000. A beginning could be made with any contribution to the Professorship Fund, or the Building Fund.

Special Wants of the Theological Department:

A dormitory for the students, estimated minimum cost$25,000
A Recitation Hall, estimated minimum cost
Endowment of the Chair of Christian Ethics
The more adequate endowment of the existing chairs, each 10,000
Forty-five Scholarships, each, minimum amount
A residence for a professor

Special Wants in the Collegiate Department:

MINIMUM ESTIMATES

Endowment of the Chair of Rhetoric and English Literature $25,000 A Chair of Physics and Chemistry
General Wants of the University:
A Preparatory Department and Summer School$25,000 A Christian Association Hall
A laundry
An endowment for the enlargement and care of the Library. 10,000 Apparatus for the Department of Science

The whole work of Lincoln University needs immediate enlargement. A comparatively small addition to her funds would greatly increase her power for usefulness. Lincoln University is a living, growing Institution. It is a mistake to think that because her resources are increasing her needs are becoming less. Our needs are as the needs of the people for whom we are working. The need of Christian teachers and ministers is only just beginning to be felt, and is by no means overtaken. It is the estimate of conservative Southern educators that not more than one in five of the colored ministers is fitted by education and character to occupy the pulpits in which they are appointed to preach the Gospel. One of our aims is to supply this need of the people. Their friends can do them good by increasing our efficiency. Our needs are measured by their needs. A college that has no wants has no sphere of duty. Lincoln University would be recreant to her duty and opportunity if she did not enlarge her plans in behalf of a cause so needy and so hopeful.

The University is consecrated to the glory of God and the good of man. It has received the indorsement of all who are acquainted with its work. The friends of the education of "colored youth" are cordially invited to investigate its plans and operations, and co-operate with its officers in conferring the benefits of a liberal and Christian culture on those who prize and so much need this blessing.

Benevolent friends wishing to aid the Negro through the agency of Lincoln University may address their contributions or their inquiries to Rev. W. P. White, D. D., Philadelphia, Pa.; or to J. Everton Ramsey, Esq., Treasurer, Swarthmore, Pa.; or to Rev. Dr. Richard S. Holmes, Philadelphia; or to the President, Lincoln University, Pa.

Bequests

In the preparation of wills, when it is intended to make bequests to Lincoln University, care should be taken to use the exact corporate name as known and recognized in the courts of law, viz., "Lincoln University," and to add its location—in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Graduates of the Collegiate Department

The following is an alphabetical list of graduates of the Collegiate Department, with dates. It is desired to prepare for distribution a complete reference catalogue, giving items of interest concerning each graduate or student of the College. For this reason it is earnestly requested that graduates or friends will forward without delay the present address of any of the former students of whom they may have knowledge to Prof. Wm. H. Johnson, Dean of the Faculty of Arts. Information regarding the omission of names or degrees will be gladly received.
