DEDICATION

JAMES BONNER MacRAE

From the time we entered Lincoln University in September of 1965, the Class of '69 heard the myths, legends and rabble about the then Dean of Students, James Bonner MacRae. The "Boomer's" reputation began, however, long before, in 1947, when he returned to his Alma Mater to accept the administrative post he held for twenty-one years.

We listened to the myths, legends and rabble, and being freshmen, we were somewhat awed and apprehensive about a man who was known for his skills in verbal rebuke and satirical wit. We saw the Dean stroll about the sparsely populated campus, hands behind his back, eyes alert and alive; and we chuckled and sometimes marvelled at his pearls of wisdom.

He established himself as a friend and advisor, but he was never lax in his firmness with those students who overstepped their bounds. These were our impressions of the man and his office.

Today James B. MacRae heads the Education Department and serves as coordinator for the University's newly instituted January Interim Program. Since his undergraduate days, which ended in 1924, he has ever been a loyal son of Lincoln. His loyalty is manifested in the admirable work he has done as an educator and administrator for the past forty-five years.

To James Bonner MacRae the Class of '69 respectfully dedicates its edition of the Lincoln Lion.

THE CLASS OF '69

IN MEMORIAM ROGER ALLAN JOHNSON

Born: December 3, 1947 Died: July 20, 1962

Roger Allan Johnson, to whom this page is respectfully dedicated, was born December 3, 1947, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. With aspirations of becoming a doctor, Roger was a conscientious student who was able to mix wholesome rabble with academic excellence. "Flea"—as he was affectionately called by those who knew him well—had a knack for getting involved in deep intellectual debates. He took advantage of every opportunity to challenge the intellects of those around him, while at the same time establishing firm human ties with the Lincoln Community.

The ideas and ideals of Roger represent the aspirations and strivings of the Class of '69. For us the past four years have been years of intellectual maturation and human understanding. In our endeavors to experience life to its fullest and learn about the world we live in, we have gained great insight into our own inner beings and have torn down unrealistic facades which serve to alienate brother from brother; hence we are assured that the prospect of our weaning a successful path through the constricting perplexities of life are quite good.

As when we entered the gates of Lincoln in 1965, we leave in 1969 with some apprehension about the future, but we feel quite secure in knowing that we have aquired the essential tools for living. Just as the memories of Roger Allan Johnson will linger in our minds and hearts eternally, we feel confident that the Class of '69 will not dissipate as we go our separate ways, but that we will join Lincoln's endless procession of splendor — making the world a better place for all men to live and fulfill themselves.

PRESIDENT WACHMAN

June, 1969

TO THE CLASS OF 1969

You will never be the same again. And Lincoln University has changed because of your presence on this campus over the past four years. You represent, like the University, a great diversity of human beings. Yet, you have a fine spirit of unity, and your collective influence has been great, as have your individual contributions to the University.

There has never been more emphasis on the value of education than in the past four years. The ferment and the changes in the field of education have been very substantial. Truly, educational institutions in general, and Lincoln in particular, have been "where the action is" during your stay on the campus.

You have seen significant calendar and curriculum changes during the past four years. You have been participants in the period of the greatest growth of the College, and of the initiation and flowering of residential co-education. You have seen student participation in the decision-making process at the College increase from a strong base, and you have been a part of the continuous strengthening of the curriculum to make it constantly more relevant to the times in which we live and to the needs of the Lincoln students.

You are the largest graduating class in Lincoln's history, and one of the most heterogenous.

You have brought a great deal to Lincoln, and I am sure that you are taking a great deal with you. We all hope you will come back often, as individuals and as a class, and we wish you the very best in your careers in the future.

Faithfully yours,

Marvin Wachman

ARMSTEAD OTEY GRUBB (1903 — 1968)

"Dr. Armstead Grubb came to Lincoln University in 1937, over 32 years ago. He was born in Kansas in 1903. His college was Princeton, and his advanced degrees were from the University of Pennsylvania. He also studied abroad, in France. He came to Lincoln as an Assistant Professor of Spanish and French and as Registrar, and served in these capacities until 1940. In addition to his teaching, he also served as Librarian for nine years from 1940 to 1949. After spending the next eight years primarily in the classroom as Professor of Romance Languages, he was called upon to serve as Acting President of the University, a post which he occupied with great distinction for three years, from 1957—1960.

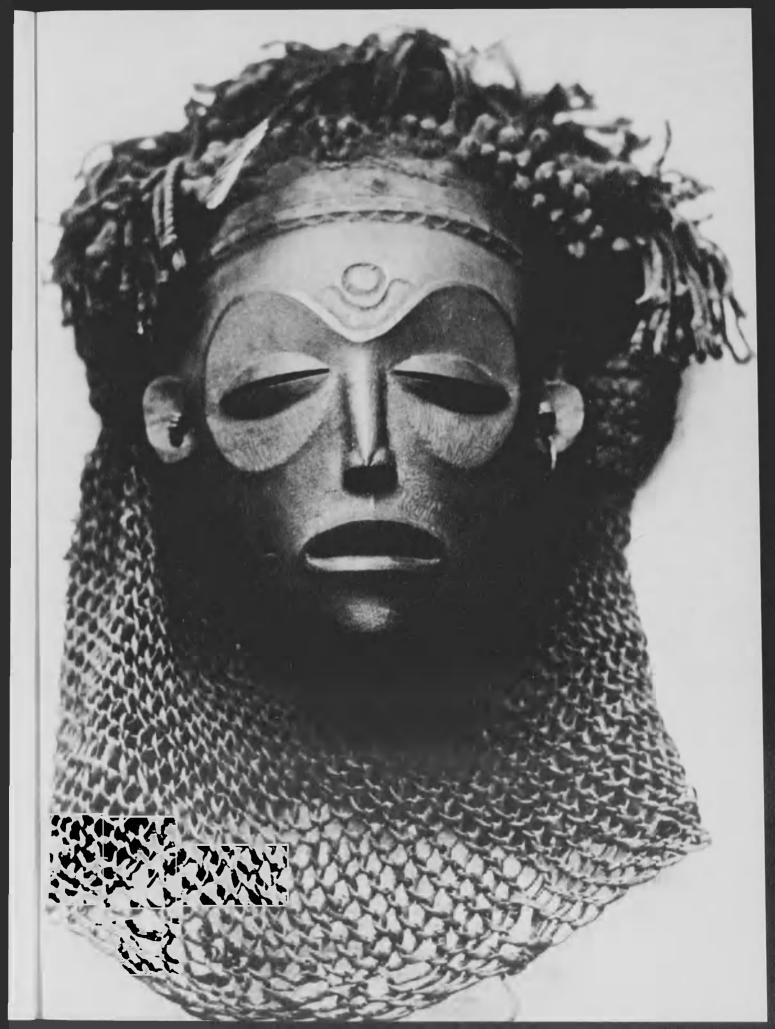

This was a period in which there was great soul-searching at Lincoln and elsewhere in this country concerning the role of this institution like Lincoln University. There were more than a few who predicted at this time and some prescribed, the end of this institution; but Dr. Grubb followed the words of his predecessor, the late William Hallock Johnson, by saying, 'There will always be a Lincoln!'

Dr. Grubb's love and dedication to this institution was demonstrated primarily by deed, since he was a man of relatively few words. His words, his thoughts, his contributions to Lincoln University, to all of us, and to many others will remain and continue to live. Our hearts go out to his daughter and our thanks go to God for giving this fine, selfless and gracious man to us for such a long and fruitful period."

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY PENNSYLVANIA

March 1, 1969

Brothers and Sisters,

Lincoln University has traditionally been a contributor to the Black community through her graduates. As this new class of graduates move out into the world, we must neither be prepared to rest on the laurels of our predecessors, nor to go about the task of making our contributions in the same ways they did. A new crop of situations have arisen, and they call for new solutions. The winds of change have taken new directions, and we must help them to their fruitful conclusions by our understanding of and participation in their direction.

The Black struggle for liberation calls for you, The Class '69!

Sincerely yours,

Patrick S. Henry President — S.G.A.

"EBONY PERSONIFIED"

The "White" Knight rides across the proverbial suburban lawn, points his lance and pow!!! — everything is instantly converted to the most pure, sparkling, and "Whitest" state of cleanliness. In all adventure stories the "Bad Guy" is always dressed in Black! Such is the consistency of the visual medium. Not only the program itself, but the commercial message depicts Blackness as evil and detrimental.

In resent history, those persons most affected by this stigma have acquired a vast amount of knowledge, contrary to this depiction, and expressed it in various manners, often called Movements. In keeping with the concepts of this newly found awareness (which has become a way of life) America's first "Negro" university, in the year 1968, took upon itself the task of exhibiting (visually) the new adage that Blackness could be beneficial, during it's annual Homecoming weekend.

With the theme of "EBONY PERSONIFIED", the university populace displayed the overall talents of Black America in it's Homecoming Queen Pageant, student Talent Show, and all other aspects of the diversified program with it's feature attraction Sister Miriam Makeba.

A multitude of hours of extensive labor involving the Lincoln University Varsity Club and the newly formed Homecoming Committee went into the forming of this successful weekend. To the members of these two groups and the Student Government Association, especially James Young, Angie Davis, Victor Brown, and my co-chairman Geoffrey Black — Thank You for proving once again that Blackness is indeed a thing of Beauty! (Solid Jackson!!!)

Undefeated for the second year in a row the Lions wrapped up the conference championship. Led by the steady play of veteran captain Ken Hall and a host of talented freshmen, our cagers never let there be any as to who was no. "1".

N.A.I.A. PLAYOFFS

Our outstanding record of seventeen victories in twenty-six games earned us a number three ranking in the Nineteenth District of the N.A.I.A., and the right to play Buffalo State in the first round of the district tournament.

Kenny has been the floor leader our squad has depended on for the last two years. His dead-eye shooting and adept ball handling have made him a unanimous All-Conference selection for two years in a row.

The basketball court is not the only place that Kenny shows promise. In June he will graduate with honors, and Ken was one of those elected to represent Lincoln in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Kenny is planning on a career in Law. Good Luck Kenny.

FINAL REFLECTIONS

Writing an afterword to a book that is supposed to capture experiences of four years is almost as difficult as trying to capture four years on about 158 pages. I feel odd because so many experiences must go unrecorded, and so many feelings can not be related in material terms.

Lincoln University has meant so many things to us — the last of the Ole School. We saw and experienced our beloved "Pioneer Women," the weekends, the frats, clubs, classes, exams, and above all, "rabble." All these things and more will help make us what we are to become.

To my classmates and advisors, I say thanks! It has not all been fun and games, but it has been meaningful to create this yearbook. Again, I thank you for your help.

To the Class of '70, I leave you best wishes, the little office in room 303 University Hall, and the leograph (that you may have two for the 1970 edition of the LION.)

Sincerely,

Jerrome N. Duncan, II Editor-In-Chief
