FULFILLMENT

While you glide gracefully by, the movements of your hips divine,
the other people whistle
and make sly remarks,
I only want to wish you love.
Why must we be, most assuredly, two people from out of the blue,
If I could say, "Can I help make your day?"
And you reply, "just we two!
Because the time is ours, but not to waste,
We are in this world for each other,
So share it with someone,
Let you and I become one,
Who knows, I just might be your lover!

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
TO THE CLASS OF 1975:

October 9, 1974

Whenever a class is leaving, I have a feeling of remorse over what more could have been done for you. The world you are entering is in economic turmoil; there is much anguish. People are truly starving to death over great stretches of Africa south of the Sahara, the Sahel, and in India. Yet there is no doubt that the world has the resources to bring the advantages of civilization to all its people.

I do not think that Lincoln has done enough to insure that you have a sound, accurate, basic knowledge of the nature of the world and of man. Perhaps it is impossible to acquire such education in the four short years of college. We may hope that Lincoln laid the foundation in science, psychology, mathematics, sociology, so that you can develop with assurance those genuine, relevant, intellectual skills. As you leave Lincoln, we are at work to insure that there will be greater opportunity for rewarding employment for you and, especially, that there will be greater opportunity for graduate study. We must produce more people with the highest training in all fields, but especially those crucial fields of economics, political science, engineering, mathematics and science. Strangely, we cannot accept that our students are moving into any of the learned professions in numbers commensurate with their population ratio — which, I think, is as good an index as any to start our arguments. Even in so popular a field as medicine, we were only 2%. There should be at least six times as many. These things I tell the National Board on Graduate Education, the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, and the other groups with whom I meet.

For you, I hope you do not believe that destructiveness and cruelty are innate in our species so that you are willing to accept a view of the future that gives us less dignity less freedom, less participation. You are apt to begin your working life in a city gripped now with urban hysteria, separated by a tremendous and disturbing distance from the place it could be for concerned human beings. Carry with you from Lincoln a historical sense of inevitable victory.

Very fondly yours,

TO THE TEMPESTUOUS CLASS OF 1975

In her long and glorious history, Lincoln University has graduated smaller classes than yours, classes larger than yours, perhaps classes even more academically inclined than yours, but never has Lincoln graduated a class more exciting or vibrant than the Class of 1975. You perhaps, are the prototype for the future generations of Lincoln students.

Your class will long be remembered for its impact upon Lincoln. Your very real sense of and commitment to human rights, social awareness and academic excellence has propelled you to the very forefront of the struggle for liberation, peace, and social justice, both in this country and abroad. Moreover, as a result of your total dedication to your convictions, you have acted as a catalyst in stimulating Lincoln to reaffirm and strengthen her original mission during these turbulent and troubled times and become an even more relevant institution for social change. Not once, during the past four years, have you allowed Lincoln to forget-or not be cognizant of-her most significant and varied responsibilities to the greater community at large.

We have grown to know each other well, you and I, and although we have not always agreed on all things, I am convinced that our rapport is real and that there will always exist among us a genuine sense of affection, honesty and mutual self respect. I have sincerely enjoyed being a part of your development for the past few years, and I will always be indebted to you for I feel that I learned and received as much-if not more-than I taught and gave.

As your baccalaureate days draw to a close, and as you move into a new kind of relationship with your alma mater, please know that we are all hoping that you will effectively utilize your skills and training to achieve the professional and social success that we know you are capable of. Although you will no longer be with us-in a formal sense-we do want you to realize that you are Lincoln, that you are inextricably bound to the past and the future of this great institution, and that you therefore have a responsibility to sustain and increase her viability, significance and heritage.

As you now go forth into the world, I would like to share with you this thought from William Penn that has always-at least in my mind-exemplified the actions and spirit of the Class of 1975.

"I expect to pass through life but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do to any fellow being, let me do it now and not defer or neglect it, as I shall not pass this way again."

Please let this thought truly be indicative of your philosophy of life, and let it serve as your guide in all future social interactions.

With best wishes for a long, prosperous and happy life I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Vice President for Student Affairs

TO THE CLASS OF 1975:

A yearbook is a pictorial chronicle of memories which attempts to evoke feeling. This staff has tried to gather pictures and words which capture the essence of four years of life together at Lincoln.

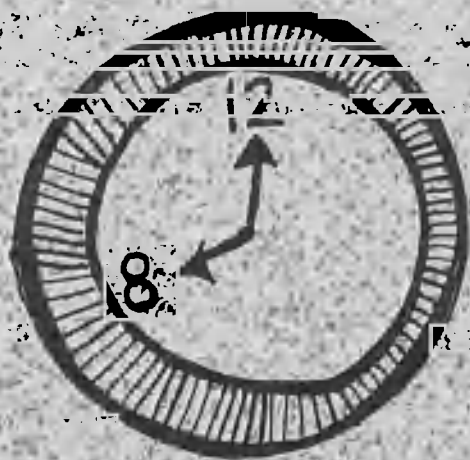

We would like to thank all those who have brought us this far through life's perilous journey: our families who gave us love, our teachers who gave us an education, and our friends who gave of themselves.

As you turn these pages of smiles, beauty, and regrets, remember that this yearbook is an affirmation of our class' strength and hope. Even while the torrent of time washes away our vitality, never doubt that the spirit of the class of 1975 has and will endure. Believe with all our hearts in ourselves, because only then can we continue to dare the impossible.

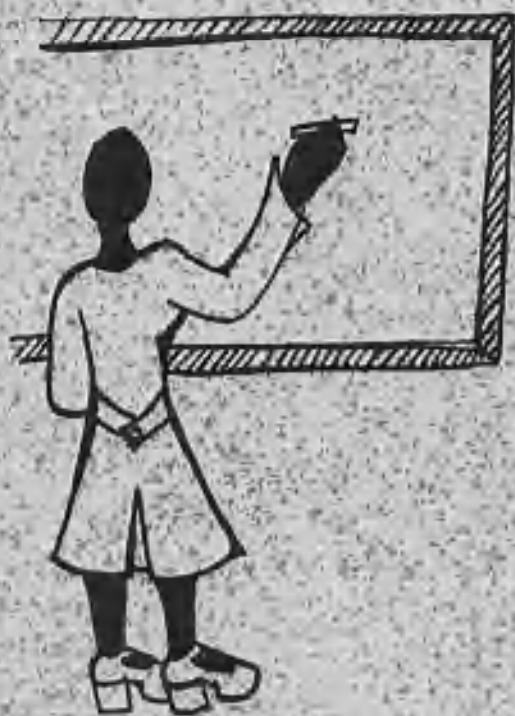

Forever yours,
Bruce M. Benson

Leaves

on autumn days
when the cold first blew i turned up my collar and squatted like my African sister beside a pile of leaves . . .
brown, like me;
or gold, or orange,
or yellow, or red,
and sometimes green,
but always dead,
that crackled in my fisted hand and crumbled to the hardened earth i laughed to see them fall.
and now, in my autumnal youth when the cold again begins to blow i turn my frayed collar up and squat, like my African ancestor beside a pile of dried out minds;
brown, like mine
or gold, or orange
or yellow . . .
and sometimes Black but very nearly, always, dead that crackle in my fisted hand and crumble to the tear-soaked ground it hurts to see them fall.

RIPPLE

HOMEcoming

When the autumn moon is full and bright,
And the air smells fresh and raw,
And sidewalks reflect a creamy light,
While crickets watch with awe.

Awake now, Lincoln University,
Open your windows wide
And listen to the music of a party,
A festival is now outside.

Can you see the lights?
Are the faces very clear?
This is not an earthly sight.
Watch! Before they disappear

For new spectres of Lincoln Old Mingle with spirits of Lincoln to be
And sad stories are being told
Of the Lincoln they now see

The times have changed
And the people have followed
Is this what fate has arranged?
In apathy must we wallow?

Not tonight, not just yet
These memories sing their song
Our death they will not let,
Our destruction seems so wrong.

Oh, but the morning comes so fast
And the chatter drops soft as snow
Away like black kites against the moon
The night people know they must go

The magical night is almost through
The message is left for us
So much we must say and do
Are we worthy of the trust?

But not tonight, not just yet
These memories sing their song
Our death they will not let
Because our destruction seems so wrong.

The editors would like to give a hearty thanks to everyone who gave us moral support (i.e., tolerating our ranting and raving when things went wrong) and financial assistance (i.e., making all of our dances and sales a success). We would especially like to thank the following:

Will Long, for being patient, understanding, hard-working, and a perfectionist. We couldn't have done it without your pictures

Cynthia Holloway, for doing the typing that no one else would — and not complaining.

Estelle Henderson, for helping whenever or wherever needed. You came along when we were about to give up.

Naomi Housen and Carolyn Hayes, for working when everyone else was talking about the work they were going to do.

Schery Mitchell, for doing all the artwork.

Karen Vessup and Lillian Kelly, for helping hands.

Carla Tavares, for writing the class history.

the stars, like diamonds studded the black velvet summer night and the silver silver, the new moon smiled shyly from behind the milky way . . .
seductive veil:

looking up at the brilliant dots,
crystalline specks,
my grandmother holding me in her loving arms told me they were
"holes to heaven"

. . . and old Miss Martha laughed (still rocking in her willow chair) at the wideness of my eyes and the open-ness of my mouth as i looked up to the universe hoping for a glimpse of angel's wings.

(but there are no
"holes to heaven"
because there is no heaven unless you make one,
and if you succeed
there are no holes
unless you make them
. . . and you will carry the only wings you'll probably ever see.)

CLASS HISTORY

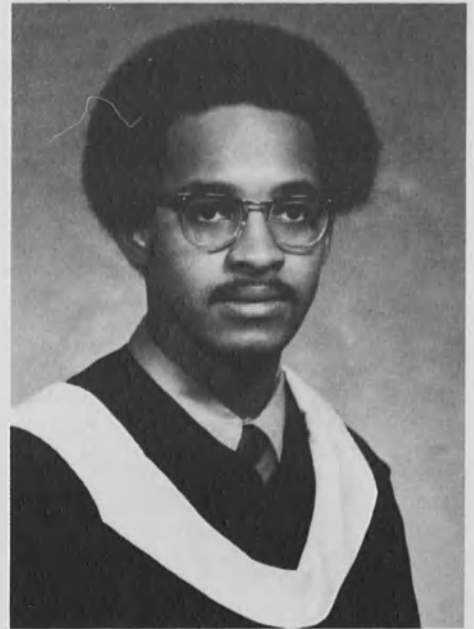

September the seventh, nineteen hundred and seventy one, in the year of our Lord — a day in infamy, which marked the beginning of a completely unique experience, that is, for those of us who arrove at this illustrious institution on tome. The Rolling Hills of what? Uh Oh! Who's that? "What's Hapnin!" Solid! "Solid?" What's a Solid? "Smile please." Say cheese for "Mr. Dill now." That's it. 7:00 a.m.? Rise up and shine for what? Test? I ain't learned nothin yet to be taking no tests. Thursday: Go to Lincoln Shuffle! It's quite simple. Just put your right foot in the administration building and kind of Cha-cha-cha- oh excuse me — on over to Mr. Kinney's office, Two, three, four, up to the financial aid office, two, three, four, back to Mr. Kinney, two, three, four, Crash! Uh oh, who's that? "What's Hapin?" "Nothin" "solid" "What's a solid?" Sunday afternoon the upperclassmen came.?" By Monday morning at eight o'clock most of us have gotten somewhat use to the surroundings. Lincoln Hall? Oh sure, go straight up the walk till you come to the fork — bear left . . . Homecoming 1971 — Curtis Mayfield says "If there's hell below, we're all gonna go! Then there was the talent show — sing that song Barons, Do it sex machine — Go on Merial — Pop that thing, Mickey! Hey wait a minute! What's this? Pennies from heaven — wow, there goes a dime — Well alright! What you mean half the class is punching out — not 75 — alright Y'all, now straighten up. Snow, WOW! Check it out! I've never seen such beautiful snow before. It sure is a lot. GOSH! Hey wait a minute — no sense in over doing it! Alright that's enough — Oh s . . . We can't be snowed in' . . . I mean, that only happens in the movies! When spring finally rolled around, we went on a Maiden voyage with Ramsey Lewis in Grim Gym. So's that's what her legs look like — H*U*M*! . . . May, '72. We made it — Dr. Rudd gave us more A's in chemistry in one year then he gave out in a long time! Hey Wow — it's September all over again, Man, It just seems like only yesterday when we were just Preps. — But baby, look at us now! Think I'll black an over to the SGA office, ain't no big thing, just 75, better slide on over to the radio station — ain't no big thang, just seventy-five. Maybe I'll go check out the Freshmen/sophomore vs. the junior/senior football game — We won! Ain't no big thing — just seventy-five. SEVENTY-FIVE is all over the place and we are coming from all ends, that's right, party hardy and work harder for the party just make sure you don't matriculate yourself out of here! Now straighten up — that's it — take it easy — go on do it.

What? You mean, there are more people in the class of seventy-five on the Dean's list than in any other class — and they said it couldn't be done! I say we deserve a break this Homecoming. Party! Stay up!! Stevie sings for Sickle Cell — that's talent. The Talent show in the Chapel — there goes those pennies again! Hey, who's that? What Hapin? Nothin, Solid! What's a Solid? Is there any truth to the rumor that Earth, Wind, and Fire are gonna perform at an open air concert in front of the new gym? Well, I'm going to call my friends from Ohio and tell them to come on down. No grounding, HUH? "Ah, ladies and gentlemen, I regret to inform you that, ah, due to circumstances beyond our control . . ." As juniors, we became official lower members of the upper class — Hey Preppie — Get off the grass! Oh, the Lincoln Shuffle just isn't appropo anymore — I think I'll just wait for a few days before registering. Solid! Oh, so that's what solid is! S*O*L*I*D!! Herb, Yago, anyone? Thanks, man, but I've got some studying to do — take a rain check though. There goes that damn snow again, Ow, Cool out man, Ow! . . . the 1973-74 talent show served as evidence that inflation is rampant everywhere especially at L.U. The janitors reported that only one dollar and thirty cents was swept from the Chapel floor. Cheap! Alright ya'll! What you say we go on down to Nottingham Park for a little picnic, we'll do it like it is supposed to be done!. A little dancing, some games, a lot of food and J.J.'s special punch. What's that — Oh I'm afraid not, you see that is the Jr. class picnic, no seniors allowed! September 10, 1974 — The mighty class returns with a good, good, feeling — something like "Sanctified" "Sanctified Seventy-five." "You know I think the class of seventy-eight has potential! I'd register for classes today, except for the fact that I've already taken these courses — I never realized that I was so full of knowledge. Half of the class is finishing up a semester early — I'm sure gonna miss them! Gil Scott Heron!!! Home for Homecoming, live and in person! What? Pay? Man I need that dollar nine! Had my silver sparkley Hollywood swinger suit on and got down with LaBelle and Eddie Kendrick boogied down. The Duce . . . not them niggers from '72! It sure is good to see Ya'll! Final's already — time goes by so quickly when you're having fun (snarl), undergraduate record exams, Oh, please, pass the bird. What a Bust! I still don't believe we beat the Freshmen and Sophomores 46-0 in the football game — guess it's rough out here in the real world. $25 — that's a whole lot of money when you ain't got it. Oh I see, I can't graduate unless I pay it. Look at what I just found in my pocket, $25! Here you are! Keep the change . . . Now that I've got my degree, I guess I'm ready to go out in the world and get a real education.

FROM HER FAMILY & FRIENDS

Your sunsets
Were a red gold voice
Singing a sad
Amen,
And the gray cloud streak
Over Oxford way
Was a finger Writing
the end.
