MEMORY MARKER

We hope that within these pages you will find the photographs and words necessary to recapture the spirit of this year.

And after the book is on the shelf, don't forget that it is your only permanent record of this memorable year.

Use it again—

- to remember a face
- to recall a place
- to relive a game
- to remember a name

THANKS for purchasing this yearbook. Its value will increase with the passing years.

Enjoy the memories!

TO THE CLASS OF 1978

Every high school and college yearbook staff has made the statement that their yearbook "is the finest yearbook ever produced . . ." the mighty and great Class of 1978 is no exception. Not only is our book one of the finest, But also one of the most unique, from it's unique cover to it's unique Informal section.

We the staff have tried to capture not only the togetherness and energy of the Class of 78's final year but also of it's first, second and third year.

There is no question that during our four years at Lincoln, we have had some good times and some bad, but as you look through your yearbook, think of all the great times we've had, of all the friends we've made, the lessons we've learned and the experiences we've gone thru. And as you read the final page ask yourself "Could it have happen any other place other then Lincoln?". I would also like to take this time to thank the members of the Yearbook staff with special thanks to Thomas Varella of the Public Relation office.

Although everyone on the staff worked hard, I realize ^{that} I worked some harder then others; so with apologies and thanks, I wish to give special recognition and thanks to Christine Curry, Rodney Nicholas, Lawrence Charity, Denise Raymond and my two co-editors Lois Jamison, who kept track of loose ends and Ms. Maria Champagne who I worked to the point of murder, mine.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

October 20, 1977

TO THE CLASS OF 1978:

In a world overpopulated with navel gazers, I find that bidding good-bye to the Class of 1978 takes on an especial urgency. The repellent data of inaction and inattention remind us daily of the great need for you to look beyond yourself at your responsibilities to your society. What you see is not a pretty sight--the unemployment figure for Blacks in Philadelphia, for example, stands at a staggering 18.1%, the highest of any major city in America; the Allan Bakke case has just been argued before the Supreme Court of the United States. This case has already injured the cause of our young people in seeking graduate and professional training beyond college and it could be almost ruinous to your hopes and the hopes of our children yet to be born, unless the Court finds an inspired ruling that will enable us to continue to move towards parity in the learned professions.

We have a world with variegated forms of fear. But it remains too a world of immense hope and promise. We hope you carry from Lincoln an intellectual and ritual framework that will enable you to participate in these oft tragic affairs without losing your belief that intelligence, hard work, and concern for human kind can lead to a better use of the world's resources and can bring the advantages of civilization to all the peoples on this earth. Perhaps this optimism should be tempered with the realization that you will observe too the play of the contingent and unforeseen in history. Thus resilience is necessary.

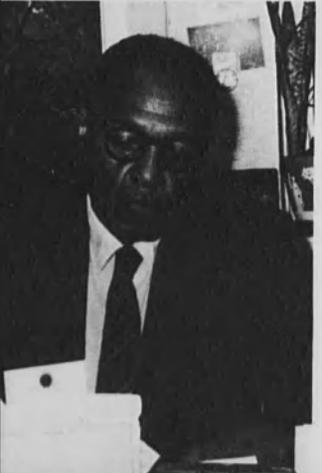

May you be spared a frantic and disunited life. May you find your legacy from Lincoln consoling, helpful, and richly preparatory for your responsibilities and purpose-designed obligations. Lincoln will forever hold you precious and will forever be here to aid you--a true Alma Mater.

My final hope is that Lincoln has enabled you to answer that perennial question: "What is worth doing?" in a world that offers so many choices and distractions.

Very cordially yours,

Herman R. Branson
President

DEDICATION TO

Dr. H. Alfred Farrell is a man who has rendered his service in a manner unparalleled to any other faculty member on this campus. Dr. Farrell is always assisting people unselfishly and with a smile: service beyond the call of duty has become a way of life. Dr. Farrell's idealism parallels the ideals of the liberal arts: compassion, awareness, and a profound sensitivity for his fellowman. It is with great pride that we dedicate this 1978 edition of the Lion Yearbook to Dr. H. Alfred Farrell, a man who has dedicated over twenty-five years of his life to students and community of Lincoln University.

Dr. Farrell was born on February 15, 1914 in Chester Pennsylvania. He attended Watts School in Chester until he reached the fifth grade where he transferred to the Reading School in 1930 and in the same year began matriculating to Lincoln University. Dr. Farrell graduated in 1934 as the salutatorian of his class and received his degree Magna Cum Laude. He went on to receive his masters and Ph.D from Ohio State University. Dr. Farrell became the first member of his class to receive the Ph.D. degree.

Dr. Farrell joined Lincoln in 1952 and he served as an instructor of English and as Assistant to the President. He then became the director of Public Relations. He began his service in 1955 and served until 1962. In 1956 he became Chairman of the English Department, a position he held for seventeen years. Dr. Farrell the Director of Alumni Relations in 1962, a position he still holds today. Some of the duties of this position involve aiding the Yearbook Staff, Co-Advisor to the senior class, and the conversion of seniors to alumni but Dr. Farrell has served over and beyond his listed duties.

Dr. Farrell has exemplified the high standards, goals and achievements that this institution has come to stand for. He has exemplified one of the most quoted mottoes: "Life does not exist in a vacuum" for he served with the versatility of a polymath. Dr. Farrell has not only served as a teacher of students, but as a teacher of teachers.

THE GREATEST

Archie Perry was born January 27, 1942, in Coatesville, Pa. As a Coatesville youth, Mr. Perry attended Coatesville area schools (James Adams Elementary/Junior High School and Scott Senior High School). In 1959, "Arch" as he is affectionately known, sought to further his education at Lincoln University, Pa., where he received his B.A. degree in general science. In 1973 "Arch" went on to the Main Campus of Penn State University, where his interest was counselor education.

From 1963 to 1966 "Arch" taught science at the Roberts Vaux Junior High School in Philadelphia, and in 1966-67 he instructed students in the science at Abraham Lincoln Junior Senior High School, also in Philadelphia. From 1967 to 1973 he was back in Coatesville, where he taught science in South Brandywine Junior High School. In 1974 Archie Perry made a move of great importance to the Lincoln University community. He accepted a job as a counselor in the Special Services Program at Lincoln University.

During these years, from 1974 (which started the years for the Mighty and Great Class of '78) up until the present, "Arch" has worked diligently, closely, and relentlessly in behalf of almost every field of constructive student endeavor. His warm smile and evident shyness have put Archie Perry in a charismatic class of his own. Through the years the majority of our class have not only come in contact with this man frequently, but have come to love him as he displayed a certain love for us.

As our past class advisor, he made "survival of unity" among us possible with his patient, well-planned guidance. For this guidance and wisdom, we hold "Arch" in the highest esteem, and for his understanding we love him with great devotion.

We know that there are some people "Arch" will never be able to forget, and others we hope that he will not forget ----- among them, the

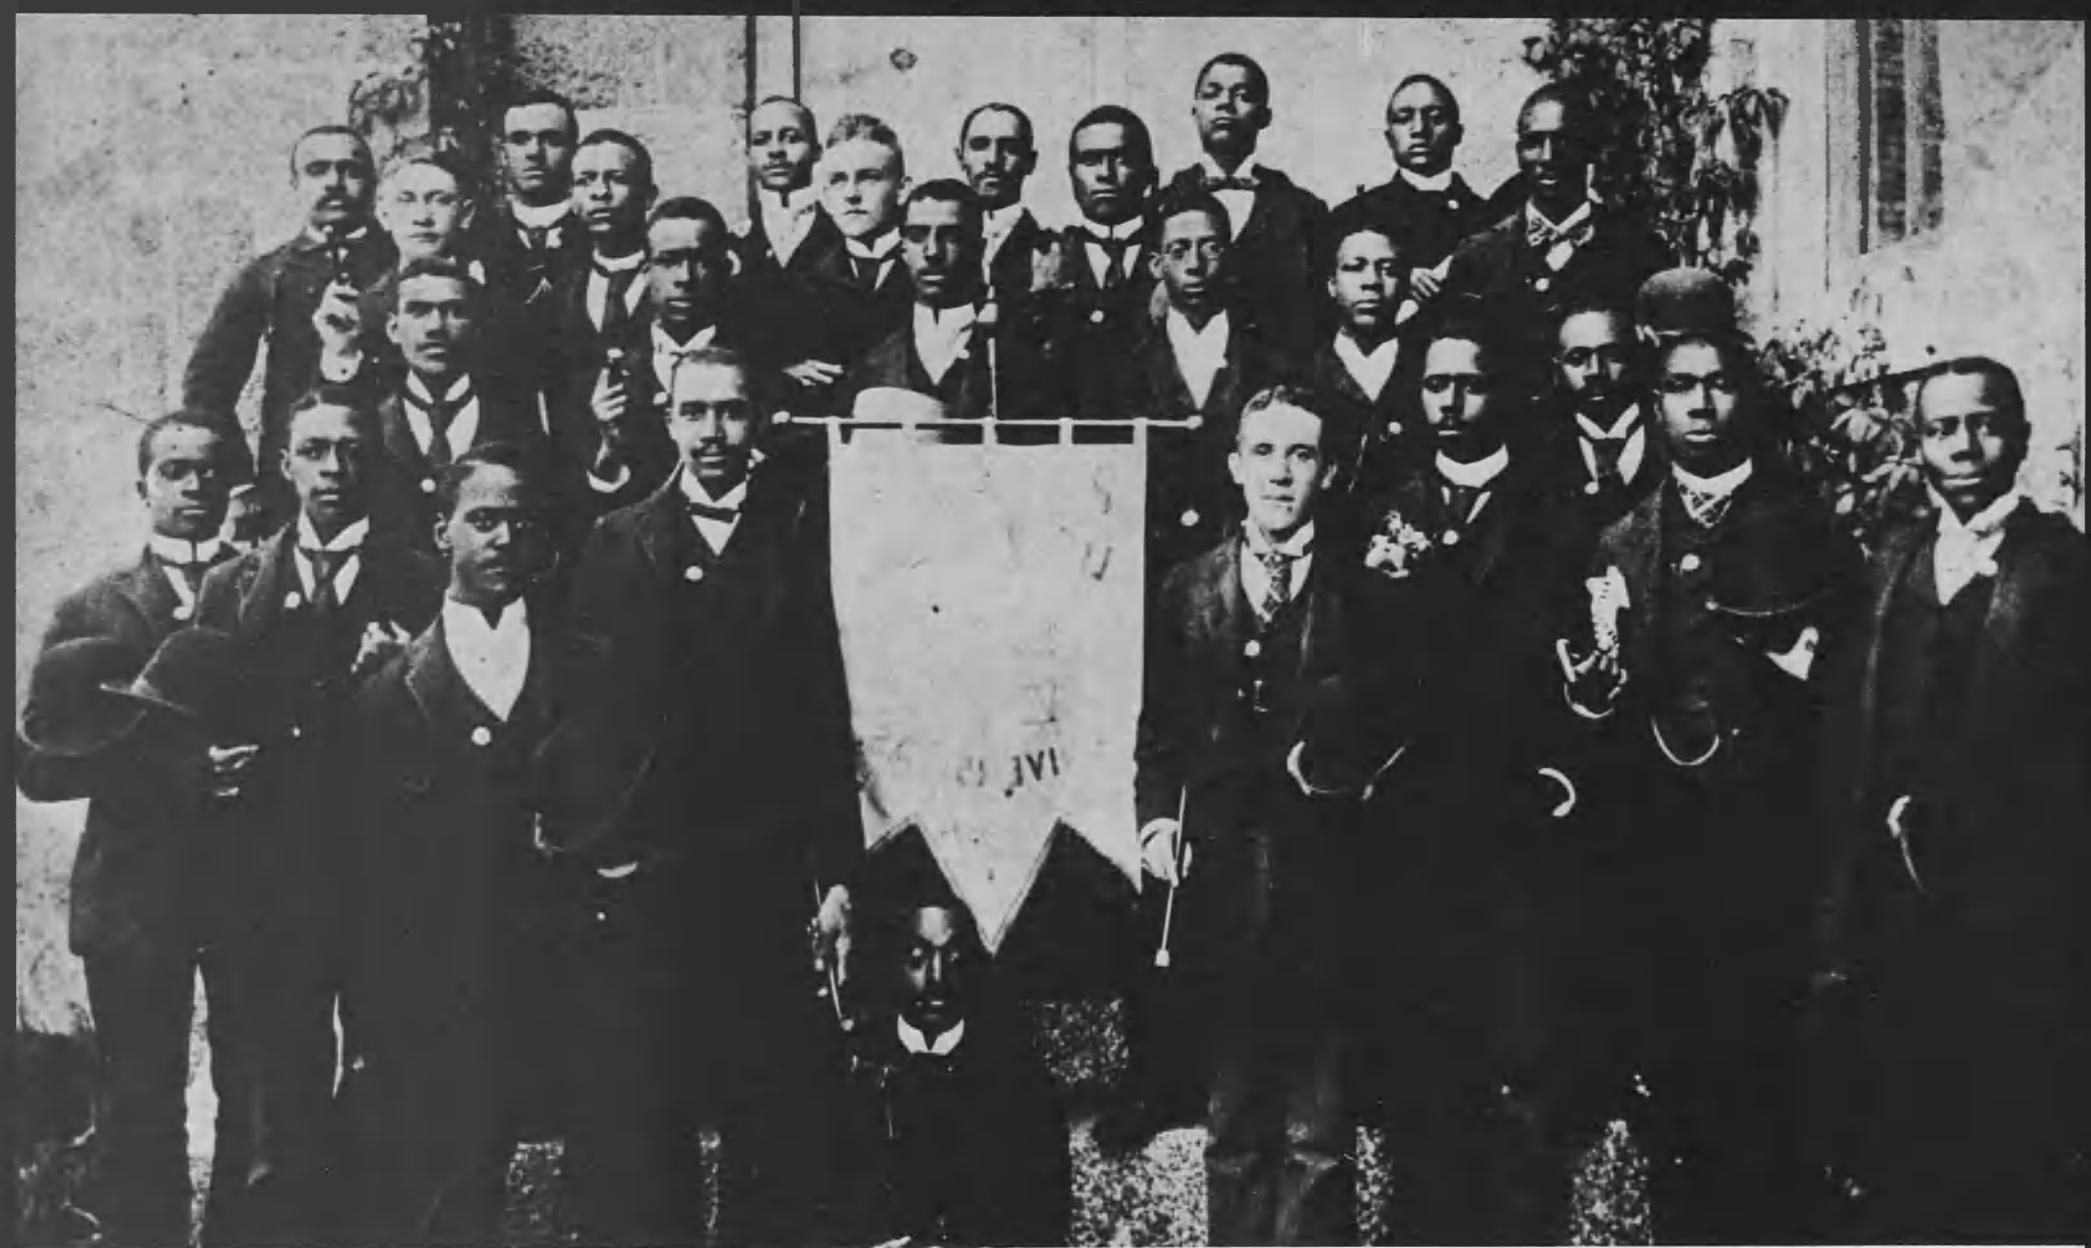

MIGHTY AND GREAT CLASS OF 1978

P.S. We'll miss you "Arch"!

Farewell For Now

Even though we hardly knew
I miss you
Time seems to take us away
Away from friends
Away from love
Away from sharing
Away from giving
You're not here
But still you're living
Somewhere, someplace
Farewell for now
Until time brings us together again
Farewell for now, my friend

Johnnie Arthur Woodson

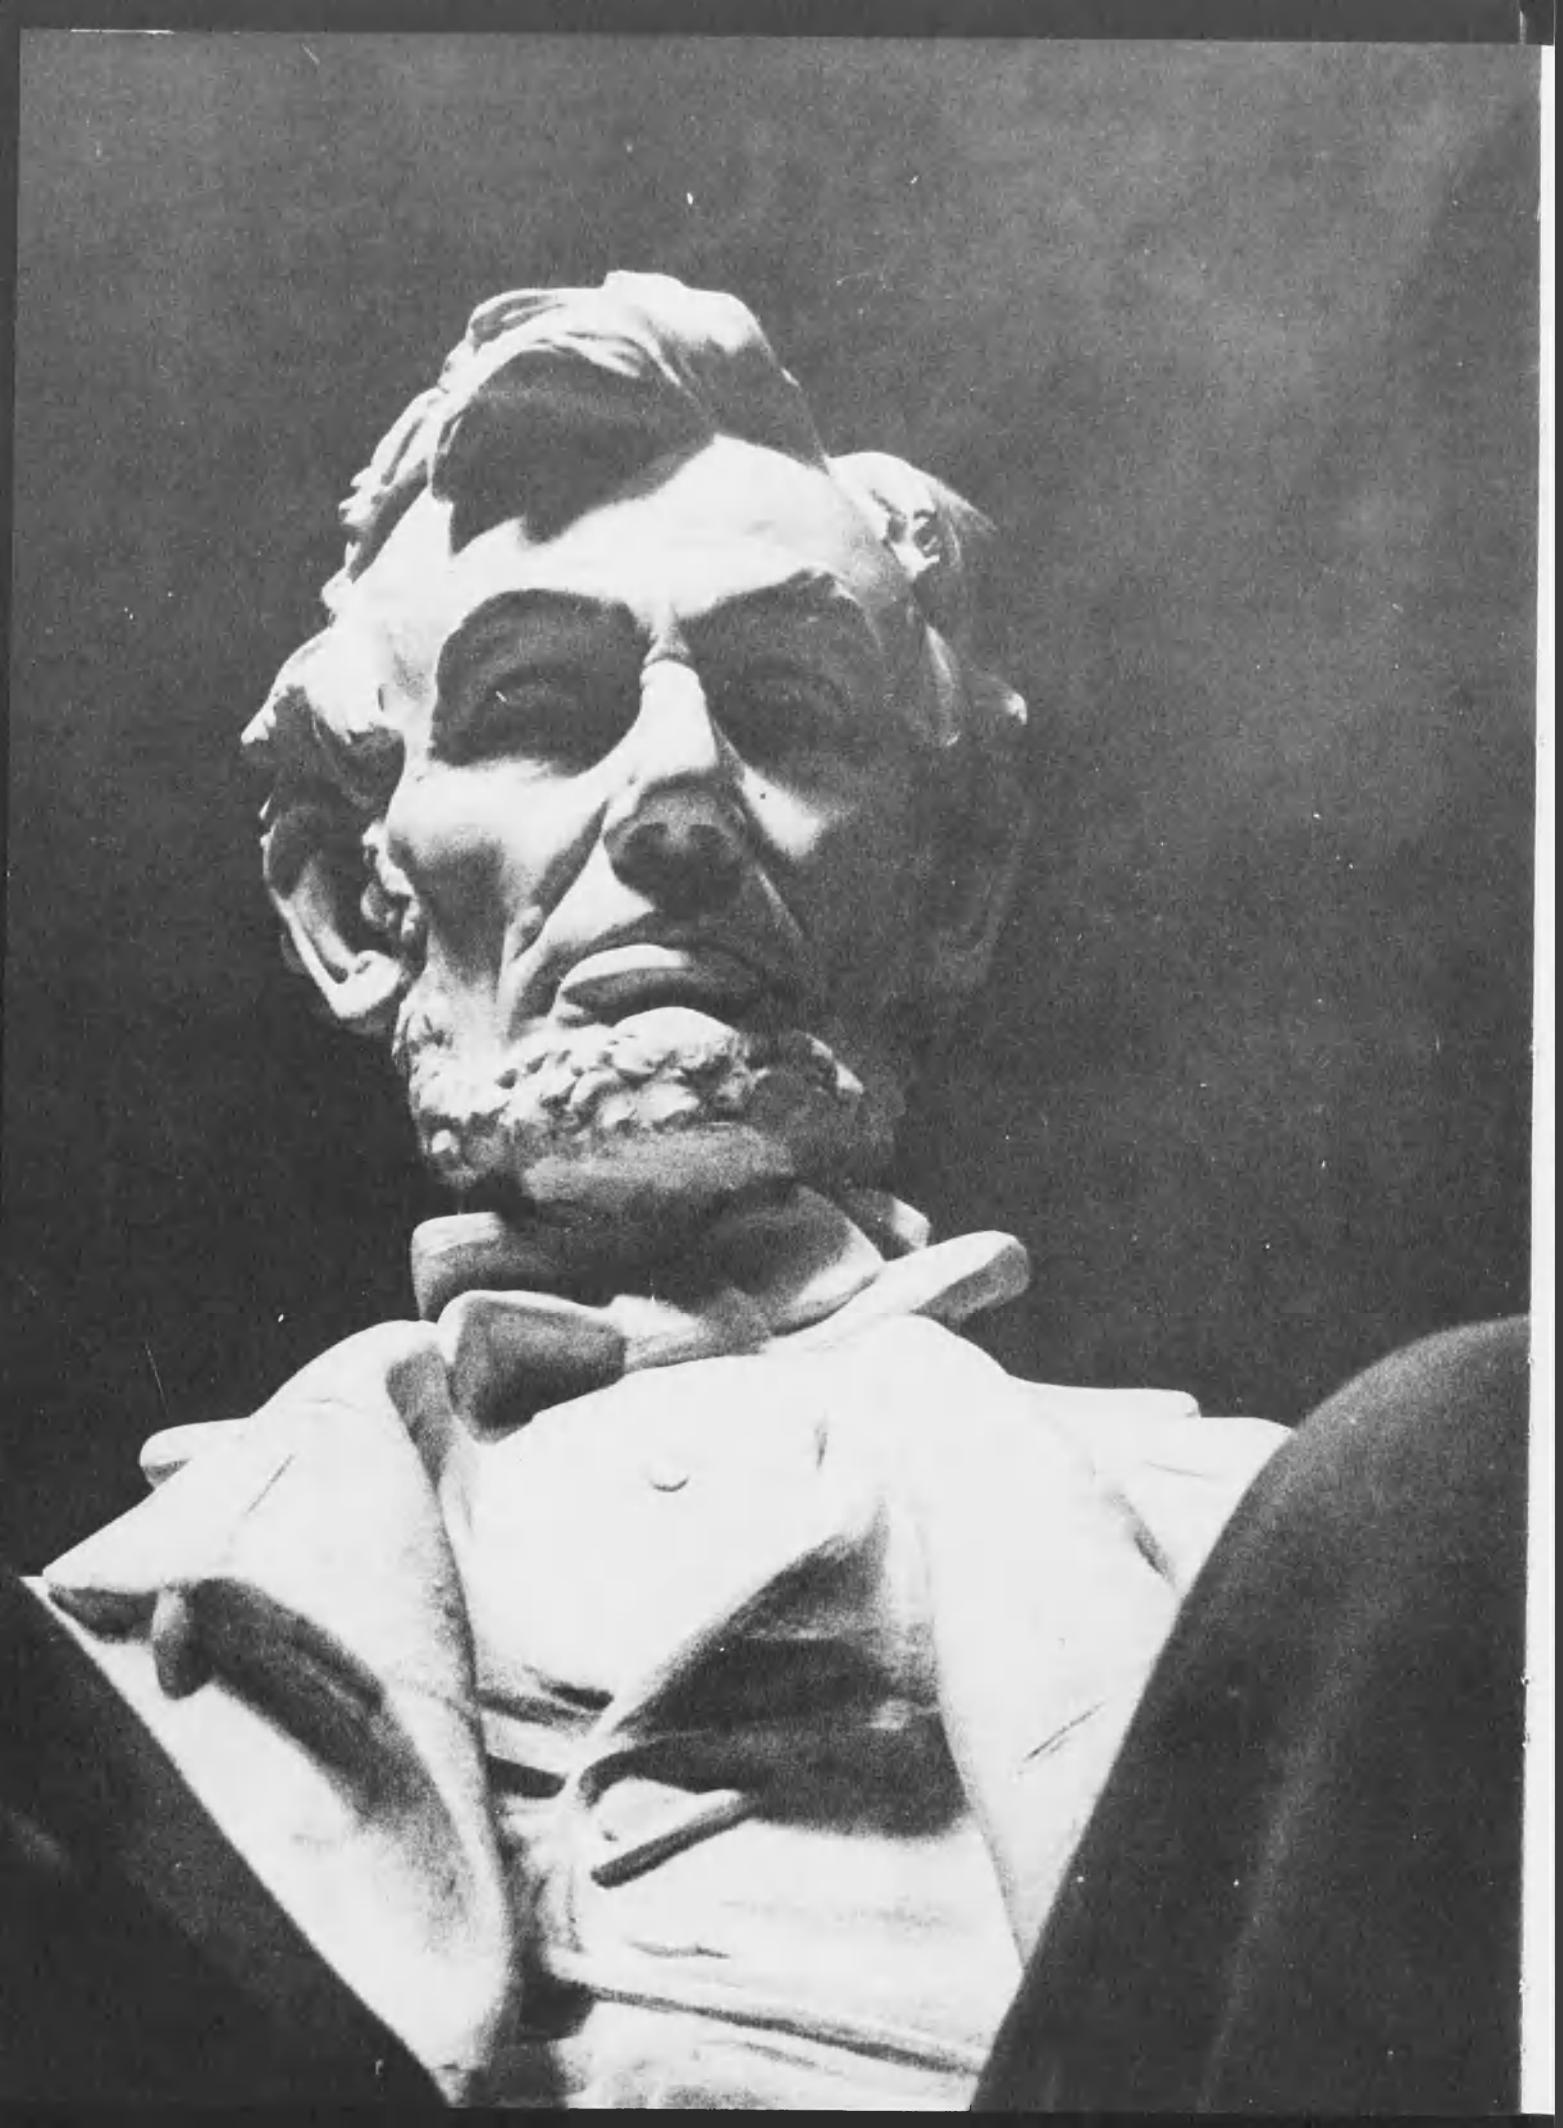

Johnnie Arthur Woodson Jr., once a student here at Lincoln University, was called to rest in June, 1977.

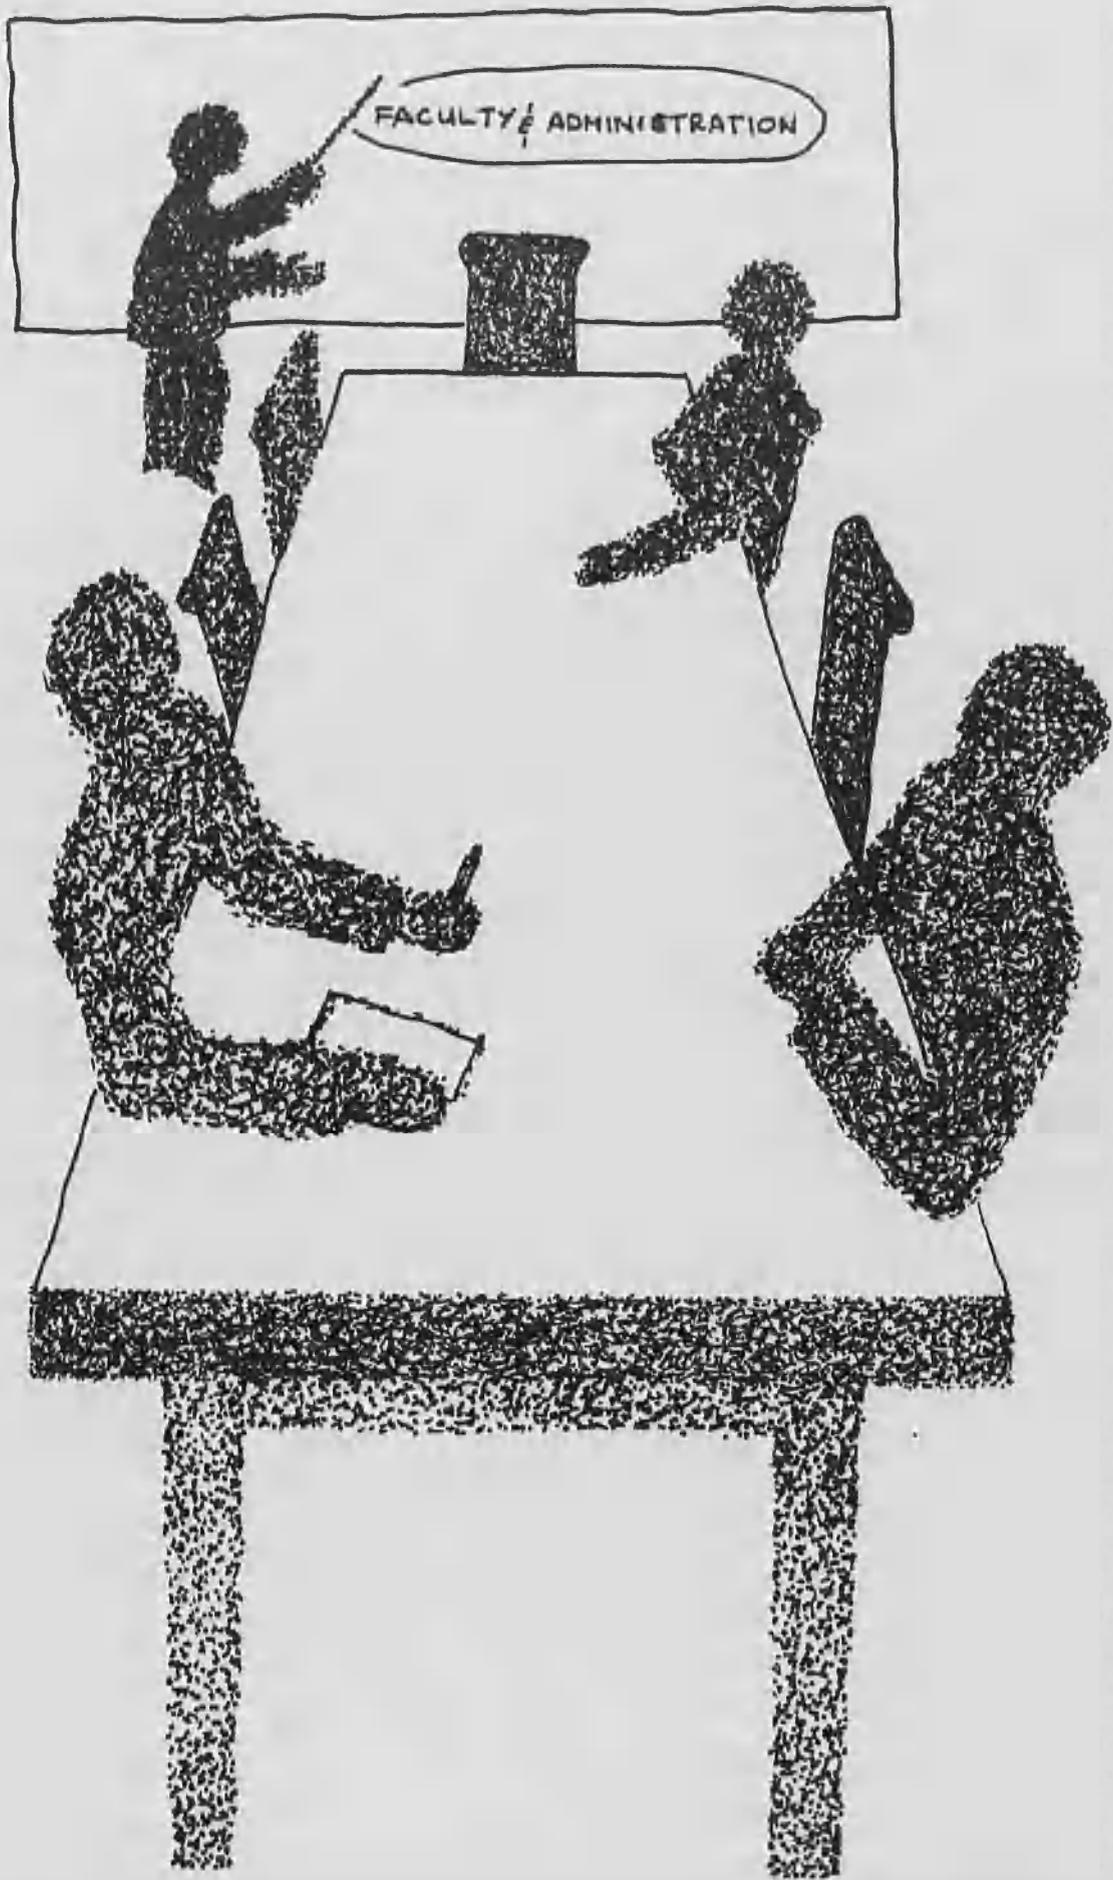

Known as Johnnie Woo by his friends and colleagues, he graduated from Lincoln in May of 1977.

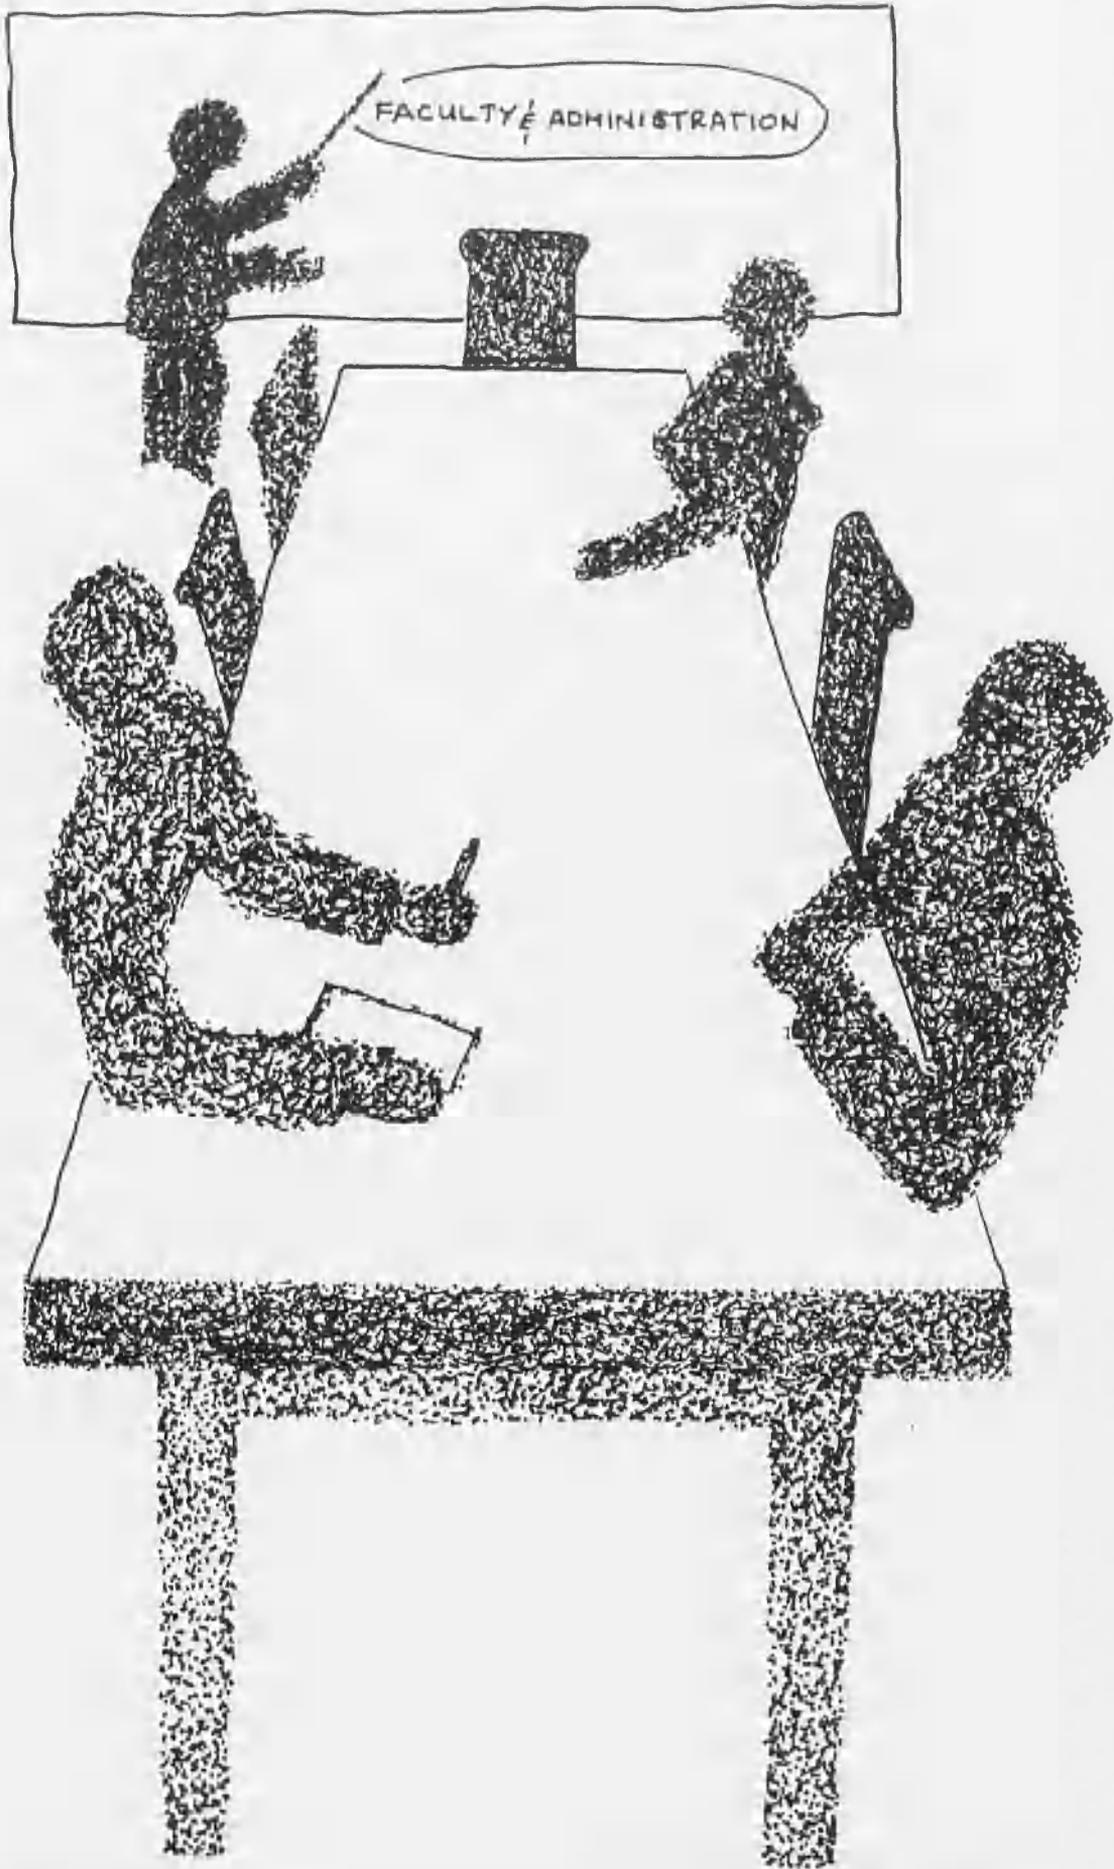

Johnnie was an active member of Grove Phi Groove Social Fellowship Inc., here at Lincoln. Thus allowing him to become an avid participant in the activities both social and service rendered to the Lincoln community. Also a member of the Psychology Club, Johnnie Woo continued his spark of light to the community of Lincoln and surrounding areas.

We the class of 1978 and the students here at Lincoln University would like to pay tribute and respect to Johnnie Arthur Woodson Jr., who left us all with a sparkle of life we will all remember.

WELCOME CLASS OF '78

When everyone spent hours looking for their name on this tree.

IN THE BEGINNING

Eat your heart out Baby Face Nelson

When the Baseball Team's best plays were from the bench.

When pool was played for money until it was costing more than tuition

When Kevin had a love affair with his nose

When Brian proved He was faster off the track then on it.

... When Morris was 5'9" since he removed his platform shoes he is 5'2"

... Charity played O.J. for a day

... When Eddie Cool was Lukewarm

... When Crazy Ron played president for a year

DO YOU REMEMBER . . .

Nikki Giovanni

Julian Bond

Roy Ayers

Michael Henderson

Remember that great food?

Looks Like a Funeral viewing, such happy faces.

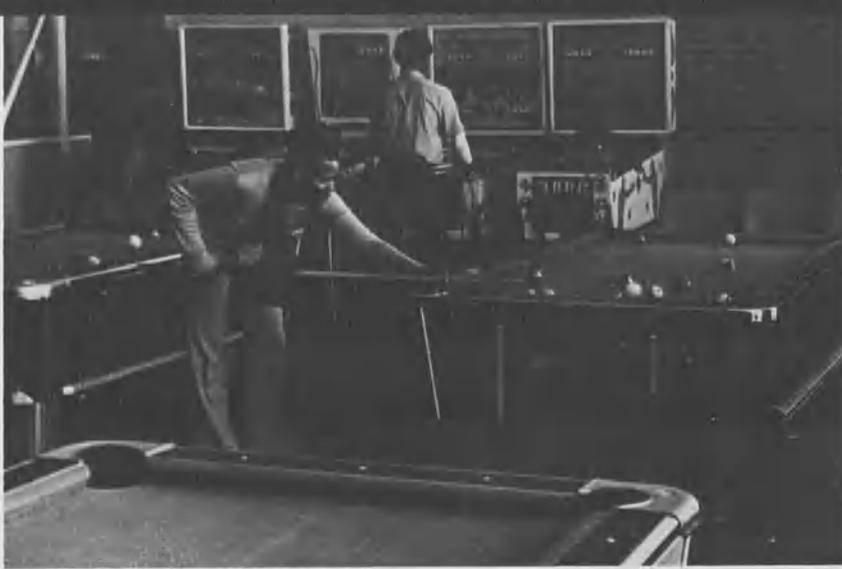

Drinking L.U. swamp water

How about those meal time shows

Remember those after class pool games

Those evening plays

Rocking Church services

Those trips home

and serious raps with friends

Remember registration, that 10 min. process which took half a day.

What do you mean I need one more credit?

DON'T LAUGH

... but one of these three people have false teeth. Guess who?

... but doesn't this remind you of the dinner line in the cafeteria

but doesn't it look like CeCe Wilson is actually posing for this picture when obviously she can't even see the camera (without her glasses)

It's obvious that you know these two guys, Aaron Barfield alias Joe College and what his name!

... he's desperately trying to get to that terrible itch at the back of his neck without looking more ridiculous than he already is.

ISN'T IT FUNNY

that we always seem to find Taboo in the library seated in the same place, ten minutes before an exam

how Kevin Little resembles Harpo Marx

how some people just can't take a picture no matter what they do that they all failed the same test that day

it is just Kenny McKee tripping, with his little cuddly pal

but isn't this the picture of the vacation resort you always wanted to visit

... but line No. 28 isn't working

Haven't you ever heard the expression "some of us have one foot in the ground" he's living proof!

... but here is mild mannered James McCreary after a hard day of counting flies in the genetics lab

... it's better then eating in the cafeteria

you did it to during final week

... but someone in this picture has either bad vision or a bad sense of direction.

Mans reason must not overshadow his passion, because one cannot be considered without the other. He must have patience, for we have nothing but to give to ourselves.
